REVIEW OF DECEMBER—COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL EVENTS.

The events and developments during December were along the same dismal lines in the industrial, banking, and financial world as marked the course of the whole calendar year 1930. In other words, they were highly unfavorable, with scarcely a ray of light penetrating the dark clouds that were enveloping the entire economic system of the country. The year 1930 was a bad period from beginning to end—a year of intense depression, probably the worst ever witnessed, with unemployment and idleness of staggering proportions, with acute distress in the agricultural regions (as the result of abnormally low market values of those two important export staples, wheat and cotton, the former dropping for some future deliveries to the lowest figures touched in a generation, and cotton to the lowest point reached since the utter breakdown in that staple which occurred in 1914 and 1915, when the outbreak of the war in Europe suddenly shut off the leading foreign markets for the staple) and with manufacturing and mercantile lines prostrated as probably never before.

And this characterization of the year as a whole applies not alone to the United States, but to virtually the whole civilized world. In the different countries of Europe—in Great Britain, in Germany, less so in France, in the smaller countries of the Continent—in South America, in Australia, in Asia, in the latter of which the situation was made infinitely worse by the steady depreciation in the price of silver, the monetary unit of so large a section of the Far East, the quotation in London on the last day of the year touching 14 7/16d. per ounce against 21⅝d. on Jan. 2 1930, being not only the very lowest figure during the year 1930, but the lowest in all the annals of time; everywhere in all countries, near and remote, among all races and among all the civilized peoples on the earth, among all classes of the world's population, in all walks of life, among the high as well as the lowly, and in all the activities of the human race, bad times were the common affliction. The truth is, the whole economic system may be said to have fallen into a state of collapse and demoralization, with all the ill consequences, the distress and suffering, which this involves.

The general disposition has been to compare the present crisis with the setback which the United States experienced in 1920-21, when the bottom suddenly dropped out of inflated commodity values, attended by a long train of disasters in the mercantile world, but which was followed by quick recovery. In reality, there is no analogy between the two periods. In the light of what happened in 1930, the trade revulsion which the country suffered in 1920-1921, and which was by no means a small affair, dwindles into comparative insignificance. Perhaps the most disturbing of the further adverse developments during December was the new outcropping of bank failures in various parts of the country, these being no longer confined to the smaller institutions in the West and South, but extending right into the heart of the Eastern financial districts—in New York City and Philadelphia, and involving banking institutions of enormous size, one of those in New York being the largest suspension of a banking institution recorded in this city and in this country. This new outcropping of bank suspensions was not only disturbing on its own account, but because further undermining of confidence in the banking and financial world, confidence already seriously impaired before. One serious ill effect was another smash in security values on the Stock Exchange, where hundreds of securities dropped to new low levels. Bond prices collapsed almost as completely as stock prices, many bonds of the better class dropping from 5 to 15 points or more. Growing directly out of the bank failures many solvent banks suffered heavy withdrawals of deposits, and some actual runs, and were obliged to sell their holdings of securities in order to obtain the funds with which to meet the demands of the scared or suspicious depositors, while other banking institutions, not knowing what might happen, felt obliged to sell parts of their security investments in order to place themselves in liquid position and be prepared for all contingencies. Reports of small bank failures, and also many moderately large in size, kept steadily coming in day by day all through the month, and these, as already stated, were not confined to the West and South, but came from many other parts of the country, not excepting New England and the East.

Coming on top of the long list of bank suspensions which cut such a startling figure in November, they constituted a most formidable record of banking insolvencies, well calculated to cause distrust and suspicion regarding the soundness and stability of banks in general. It is the purpose here to refer only to the large suspensions in New York City and Philadelphia. In this city the Bank of United States went down. The closing of this institution occurred Thursday morning, Dec. 11, and the downfall was not allowed to happen until tremendous efforts had been made by banking interests to save the institution and prevent the shutdown. It had been known for some time that the bank was finding itself crippled. At the date of the last call of the Supt. of Banks, on Sept. 24, it reported capital stock of $25,250,000, with $17,156,375 of surplus and undivided profits, making $42,406,375 together, and showed aggregate resources of $254,043,942, of which $202,972,469 represented deposits. But it had considerable amounts of outside investments, not readily available for conversion into cash, and, accordingly, its liquid condition was not as strong as could be wished. The market value of its shares had suffered steady depreciation, and at the end of November these shares, of a par value of $25, were quoted at 13@14. Efforts had been made during November to effect a consolidation with three other banking institutions, namely, the Public National Bank & Trust Co., the Manufacturers' Trust Co., and the International Trust Co. The first two of these are institutions of large size, and the combination, if carried through, would have made the consolidated bank the fourth largest banking institution in this city, with total resources in the neighborhood of $1,000,000,000. The combination had been carefully planned, too. It was arranged to draft J. Herbert Case to head the consolidated institution, and Mr. Case had quite reluctantly agreed to serve in that capacity and to surrender for that purpose his enviable position as Federal Reserve Agent and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. There was to be, too, an accession of some powerful new interests in the control of the merged banks. The consolidated institution was to become a member of the New York Clearing House Association, thereby subjecting itself to Clearing House rules and regulations. None of the separate banks and trust companies to be included in the proposed merger was then in the Clearing House. The new interests who were to be represented on the board of directors of the consolidated bank embraced Mortimer N. Buckner, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the New York Trust Co.; Walter E. Frew, Chairman of the Board of the Corn Exchange Bank & Trust Co.; Park A. Rowley, Vice-Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Bank of Manhattan Trust Co., and George W. Davidson, President of the Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co. Rumors of the proposed merger were current the latter part of October, and official announcement was given out on Nov. 24 that the plans for the merger had been perfected, subject to ratification by the respective boards of directors and stockholders of the different institutions.

At the last minute the plans fell through, and on Monday, Dec. 8, news came that the merger negotiations had been abortive. But even then hope of preventing the closing were not altogether abandoned. Repeated conferences with officials of other banking institutions and with Federal Reserve authorities in this city were held Monday night, Dec. 8, and on Tuesday, and Tuesday night, and finally on Wednesday and Wednesday night. The object now was to prevent a crisis in the local banking situation as a result of the closing of the Bank of United States. The bank had 59 branches, 23,000 stockholders, and 400,000 depositors, and was now encountering serious runs at a number of branches, particularly in the Borough of the Bronx and in Brooklyn. All efforts, however, to avert closing proved futile, and on Thursday morning, Dec. 11, Joseph A. Broderick, Superintendent of Banks, posted notice that the bank was not to open for business. In taking this step he acted at the instance of the directors of the bank. The closing followed a 12-hour conference at the Federal Reserve Bank the previous night. This conference began shortly after 3 o'clock in the afternoon of Wednesday, Dec. 10, and did not wind up until 3:45 o'clock Thursday morning, Dec. 11, demonstrating how strenuously banking interests had been engaged in devising means to guard against extension of the trouble outside the Bank of United States, and in this last endeavor they were entirely unsuccessful. The only casualty was that of the Bank of United States itself. Quickly following the news of the closing of the bank came the announcement that both the Manufacturers' Trust Co. and the Public National Bank & Trust Co. had been admitted to membership in the New York Clearing House Association, thus attesting the soundness of the two institutions which it had been purposed to unite with the Bank of United States. Then came the further announcement that the 23 banks and trust companies constituting the full membership of the New York Clearing House Association had agreed to lend to the depositors of the closed bank up to 50% of their deposits, charging interest at the rate of 5% per annum. This, of course, meant important relief to the unfortunate depositors of the closed institution, numbering, as already stated, 400,000, and was characteristic of the effective way in which the Clearing House always deals with a situation of that kind at a time of crisis. It subsequently developed that the deposits of the Bank of United States at the date of closing amounted to more than $160,000,000, even after they had been greatly reduced by runs, so that the Clearing House institutions bound themselves to make $80,000,000 cash available. Up to the close of the month 34,338 loans to depositors had been approved, aggregating less than $13,000,000.

The other bank in this city which became embarrassed was the Chelsea Bank & Trust Co., with main office at 24 East 45th Street, but having also six branches in different parts of the city. This bank was closed on Dec. 23 by Joseph A. Broderick, State Superintendent of Banks, after runs on the institution at its main office and its several branches, marked in some instances (according to newspaper accounts) by rioting which "threatened the stability of the institution." The bank at the last quarterly statement submitted to the Banking Department as of Sept. 24 1930 showed deposits of $18,801,000, with $2,500,000 capital, and $2,306,000 surplus and undivided profits. This bank was not closed until 1:47 o'clock in the afternoon, when frightened depositors were drawing out their deposits in a steady stream. This bank, like the Bank of United States, was not a member of the Clearing House. Nor was it a member of the Federal Reserve System, though the Bank of United States was a member of the Federal Reserve.

The principal bank in Philadelphia which was obliged to close down was the Bankers' Trust Co. This, at the time of the last bank call, on Sept. 24, had aggregate resources of $55,508,119. It was an institution which under the leadership of Samuel H. Barker, a former newspaper man in the financial field, had been spreading out with great rapidity. It had 19 branches. It was voluntarily closed by its directors, following which its affairs were taken over by Peter G. Cameron, State Superintendent of Banking for Pennsylvania. A steady seepage of deposits—$17,000,000 having been withdrawn, it was stated, since the previous July—was given by Mr. Cameron as the reason why the directors deemed it best to close the institution to conserve its assets. The closing of this company precipitated runs of other Philadelphia banks, officials of the Franklin Trust Co. being obliged to issue a statement saying that it stood ready to cover dollar for dollar every demand and that its assets as of the previous night were over $50,000,000. The Philadelphia Clearing House Association also issued a statement saying that the embarrassment of the Bankers' Trust Co. did not affect any other institution in the city. The other Philadelphia banking concern that became embarrassed was the Aldine Trust Co., having resources as of Sept. 24 1930 of $9,256,234, and maintaining, besides its head office, two branches in West Philadelphia. It was placed in the hands of the Pennsylvania State Department of Banking, following a meeting of its directors held Sunday night, Dec. 28, at which it was decided not to open for business the next day. It was capitalized at $1,218,182, with surplus and undivided profits of $722,035, and had deposits of approximately $6,409,125. The directors of the company offered a reward of $10,000 for "information which results in the arrest and conviction of any person or persons guilty of having disseminated false rumors," which, it was declared, were responsible for the suspension of the bank, and the Pennsylvania Banking Department expressed confidence that the campony was solvent. On the other hand, the Clearing House Committee of the Philadelphia Clearing House Association, in a statement issued Dec. 29, said: "The suspension of the Aldine Trust Co. is the result of long-standing difficulties which arose under a previous administration and have been known for some years. The Clearing House banks found that they were not justified in assuming its liabilities."

The grain situation, and especially the course of prices for wheat, also continued highly disturbing as a result of the operation of the Federal Farm Board functioning through the Grain Stabilization Corp. The Federal Farm Board did succeed in maintaining prices for deliveries in December and for the nearer options for future deliveries to which it was extending support, but the July 1931 option, representing the next crop in which it was conducting no operations, went completely to smash, showing how wholly artificial was the level of prices maintained by means of the Board's activities. Moreover, prices at Winnipeg also went completely to pieces, showing again the artificial character of the American prices. The range for December wheat of the new crop at Chicago was 74¼c. to 77¾c., with the closing price on Dec. 31 76¾c. as against an opening price on Dec. 1 of 74½c. Fluctuations in the March and May options were confined within the same narrow limits at slightly higher levels, as is customary. March wheat in Chicago ranged between 77⅛c. and 81¾c., with the close Dec. 31 at 79⅝c. as against 78c. the opening price Dec. 1. Similarly, May wheat in Chicago ranged between 79¼c. and 83c., with the close Dec. 31 at 81½c. against 80c. the opening figure on Dec. 1. On the other hand, the July option at Chicago, free from Farm Board influence, tumbled from 76⅜c. Dec. 3 to 61½c. Dec. 29, with the close Dec. 31 at 62⅝c. against the opening price on Dec. 1 of 74⅞c. At Winnipeg, December wheat, which opened Dec. 1 at 58c., was down to 51¼c. at the close on Dec. 31. July wheat at Winnipeg, which opened Dec. 1 at 65⅝c., closed Dec. 31 at 55⅜c. The complete demoralization of wheat markets everywhere is plainly demonstrated by these comparisons. In the meantime the Farm Board is supposed to have continued carrying 125,000,000 bushels of wheat. Most unfortunate of all, prices of other grains in which the Farm Board was not functioning also sustained huge further declines. The 1930 corn crop, as is known, suffered great shrinkage as a result of the severe drouth encountered in the early summer months. Nevertheless, market prices of corn dropped 12@15c. a bushel during the month. The Department of Agriculture, in its final estimate for the year, made public on Dec. 17, made the crop slightly less than a month previous, putting it at 2,081,048,000 bushels against 2,614,132,000 bushels harvested the previous year and 22.9% below the average for the five years from 1924 to 1928 inclusive. In fact, the crop is the smallest since 1901. Notwithstanding all this, December corn in Chicago for the new crop, after rising from 75⅝c. Dec. 1 to 78⅜c. Dec. 3, tumbled to 60¾c. Dec. 29, and closed Dec. 31 at 63⅜c. In like manner, the March corn option at Chicago, after rising from 78⅞c. Dec. 1 to 81¼c. Dec. 3, touched 64⅞c. Dec. 29, and closed Dec. 31 at 66¾c. The later corn options broke just as badly. In the general downward course oats did not escape. December oats at Chicago, after touching 36¼c. Dec. 3, sold as low as 29½c. Dec. 31, with the close on that day at 30⅛c. against the opening price Dec. 1 of 34¼c. March oats at Chicago were 38⅜c. Dec. 3 and 30½c. Dec. 29, and closed Dec. 31 at 31½c. compared with an opening price on Dec. 1 of 36c. Neither the wheat crop nor the oats crop was deficient in 1930. On the contrary, the final estimate of the wheat production for 1930 is put at 850,965,000 bushels, as against 809,176,000 bushels in 1929, and the oats crop at 1,402,026,000 bushels compared with 1,288,369,000 bushels in 1929 and an average of 1,372,000,000 bushels during the five years preceding. As showing the complete havoc worked by the decline in prices for the different products of the farm and how greatly the buying power of the farming population has been curtailed as a consequence (the feed crops were generally extremely small, along with corn, and, for the same reason, namely, severe and prolonged drouth over important areas) it is important to place on record here that the total value of all agricultural products for 1930 is put by the Department of Agriculture at only $6,274,824,000 as compared with $8,675,420,000 in 1929 and $8,495,788,000 in 1928. In other words, the 1930 farm crops are valued at $2,400,596,000 less than in 1929 and $2,220,964,000 less than in 1928.

To the ordinary man the dislocation and demoralization of the wheat market and the fact that prices here were completely out of line with those of the rest of the world, and that the operations of the Farm Board, whose request for a further appropriation of $150,000,000 in addition to the previous appropriation of $250,000,000, was promptly honored by Congress, were proving very disturbing, furnished occasion for deep concern. Not so with the authorities at Washington. Thus we find President Hoover in his annual message to Congress saying, with evident pride,: "The price levels of our major agricultural commodities are, in fact, higher than those in other principal producing countries, due to the combined results of the tariff and the operations of the Farm Board. For instance, wheat prices at Minneapolis are about 30% higher than at Winnipeg, and at Chicago they are about 20% higher than at Buenos Aires. Corn prices at Chicago are over twice as high as at Buenos Aires."

The whole matter was given renewed prominence by the news which came from Washington on Dec. 18 saying that "strict Government regulation of all exchanges dealing in agricultural commodities, with control centralized in a single Government official or bureau, to curb speculative manipulation of food prices, is recommended to Congress by Alexander Legge, Chairman of the Federal Farm Board." We were told in these news dispatches that "although there are three laws on the statute books designed to prevent speculative gambling, at the expense of the agricultural markets, Mr. Legge did not hesitate to tell the committee (of the House of Representatives to whom he made his statement) that they either had 'no teeth' or were made impotent because authority to enforce them was scattered through several Government bureaus instead of being centralized in one."

A temporary embargo on wheat was suggested by Chairman Legge of the Farm Board to members of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said an Associated Press dispatch from Washington, Dec. 24, adding: Chairman Legge said this would be 'the most effective method' of dealing with importations of Canadian wheat which he feared might result if world prices decline further below domestic levels. In his letter to Senator Capper, the Chairman pointed out that the Liverpool market had closed at 60¾ as against a closing figure of 76 cents at Chicago. The spread between Chicago and Winnipeg, he pointed out, was now from 26 to 28 cents per bushel.

The price of wheat at Liverpool Dec. 22, Mr. Legge said orally, was 60.75 cents a bushel compared with slightly more than 76 cents at Chicago. Considering the shipping charges to Liverpool, he added, the differential was about 31 cents, and wheat was imported by the United States in 1923 and 1925 when the differential was less than that.

The Government's intention to maintain the price of the 1930 wheat crop at "the present or a higher level" was reaffirmed Dec. 22 as foreign markets sank to depths that in some cases had not been reached in 35 years. We quote the foregoing from Associated Press accounts Dec. 22 from Chicago to the New York "Times" which went on to say:

While Government sponsored agencies were buying enough wheat to hold the Chicago price 25 cents and more above other markets, George S. Milnor, President of the Grain Stabilization Corporation, issued a statement in which he said:

"Domestic conditions on the present crop do not justify lower prices, and this company will continue to follow the policy of handling such surplus market offerings as may be necessary in order to maintain the present or a higher level."

Contracts for July wheat, the new crop which as yet has no support from the Government, reacted to lower prices in foreign grain exchanges and dropped as much as 2½ cents, but old-crop futures held stubbornly to the "peg" prices or slightly above. At the close December wheat (new contracts) in Chicago was quoted at 76⅞, Winnipeg 50¾ and Liverpool 61. The fact that normally Liverpool due to freight rates and other conditions, usually from 15 to 20 cents above Chicago made the spread the other way all the more striking.

Milnor Sees Decline Prevented.

Practically the same condition was found in May wheat, with Chicago paying 81 to 81⅛; Winnipeg 54⅜ to 54½; Liverpool 64⅝. The Liverpool quotations were the lowest since 1895.

The firmness of American markets was attributed directly to the Stabilization Corporation's purchase in Milnor's statement. "Undoubtedly," he said, "the wheat that has been purchased by this company had the effect of preventing a decline in domestic prices to an unwarranted lower level, thus giving producers and owners the benefit of prices more than 20 cents a bushel higher than Canadian and other foreign prices.

"Prices could work to a considerably higher level without detriment to consumers, while, on the contrary, lower prices would mean unnecessary hardship on producers who have not marketed their crop, as well as on farmer-owned co-operative associations, other handlers and processors, who own stocks of wheat accumulated at present or higher prices."

The co-operative marketing associations, to compete with business on even terms, must be in a position to give the same services and enjoy the same advantages as a private merchant, and in order to do this they have found it necessary to make use of existing marketing facilities, of which future trading operations is an integral part, Mr. Legge, Chairman of the Federal Farm Board, and James C. Stone, Vice-Chairman, declared in a letter to Senator McNary (Rep.), of Oregon, Chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, made public Dec. 27. The letter was written, Senator McNary explained, in reply to a request from the Committee as to why such activities were necessary.

In the meantime, the Canadian Government also undertook to grapple with the situation. Associated press advices from Regina (Sask.), Dec. 31, stated that creation of a private corporation that will use its capital of $5,000,000 as a revolving fund to make loans to farmers had been announced by Premier R. B. Bennett. The shareholders would be banks, transportation companies, industrial firms, insurance organizations and mortgage companies. He said the Dominion Government would make no effort to fix wheat prices, as that was within the jurisdiction of the provinces. A price fixed in excess of the world price would be unwise, he pointed out, because Canada could not hope to absorb her surplus wheat by domestic consumption.

In its December 31 issue the "Wall Street Journal" reported the following from Winnipeg:

Canada will take no steps to fix the price of wheat or take any action on the lines which the Stabilization Corporation is conducting in the old crop deliveries at Chicago, Premier Richard B. Bennett told prairie farmers in an address at Regina. That, he said, rests with the provinces, being in their jurisdiction. However, he announces the formation of a colossal corporation to assist Canadian farmers, who are suffering from unprecedented low wheat prices and a partial crop failure.

"It would be unwise in my judgment, apart from legal considerations to fix or attempt to fix a price for wheat in excess of world price levels," the Dominion premier stated, "because Canada, unlike the United States, cannot hope to absorb her surplus wheat in domestic consumption."

However, the Federal government has taken measures in this national emergency, he explained, through the extension of credit facilities and by other means to prevent the forced liquidation of the 1930 crop. He did not, he added, think it in the public interest to discuss the details, but stressed the point that it was an emergency measure. He said that it was sufficient, in his opinion, to state that immediate effect is being given to undertaking.

Banks, Railroads to Share in Corporation.

The formation of a private financial corporation to assist the farmers is the crux of the Premier's constructive program. Shareholders in this new adventure in agrarian economics, which will have all the functions of a private body, will be the banks of Canada, the transportation companies, industrial concerns and mortgage and insurance companies. It will be an adequate aggregation of capital and will function as a revolving fund from which cash will be advanced farmers as temporary loans to tide them over the present depression. Terms of the various prepositions advanced by the Candian premier are as follows:

1. Creation of a private corporation to lend money to assist farmers in getting into mixed farming.
2. Assistance for the provincial governments in providing free food, clothing and seed grain for needy farmers.
3. Credit arrangements to prevent forced selling of the 1930 crop.
4. Guarantee of the French government to purchase 7,000,000 to 9,500,000 bushels of the 1930 wheat crop.
5. Opening of negotiations with the Chinese government for the sale of Canadian wheat in China.

Cites Importance of Oriental Market.

In addition, Premier Bennett said that the Federal government would offer the provincial governments their whole-hearted and immediate support in their efforts to aid farmers in this period of stress and would see that plenty of good seed is supplied the agrarians of all Canada in the spring.

Enlarging on the Chinese negotiations, the Premier stated that large quantities of Canadian wheat are expected to be marketed in China and to that end the government has prepared adequate credits to the Oriental nation with a view of opening up that valuable trade channel.

In the cotton world the operations of the Farm Board excited the bitterest opposition and hostility. The New Orleans Cotton Exchange sharply critized the activities of the Farm Board and on Dec. 16 the American Cotton Shippers' Association also took a pronounced stand against the Board in the hearings given before a sub-committee of the House Appropriations Committee on the additional appropriation of $150,000,000 asked by the Farm Board and approved by President Hoover. The opposition of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange was manifested in the annual report of the Board of Directors signed by J. P. Henican, President and Colonel H. G. Hester, Secretary. The report made a direct attack on the Government for going into business in competition with private citizens through the operations of the Federal Farm Board. Furthermore, according to the Dallas News, of Dec. 31, members of the Farmers' Union of Texas and the Farmers' Marketing Association of America at the closing session of the joint meeting on Dec. 30 unanimously passed resolutions demanding the immediate resignation of both Chairman Legge and Carl Williams, cotton member of the Federal Farm Board unless the Board's policy was radically changed. The Board was called upon to quit dealing in futures and Government price fixing of cotton at 18 cents a pound proposed.

The meeting of Congress which occurred on Dec. 1 and the submission of the President's annual message which was submitted Dec. 2 were of course more than ordinarily important events, since they involved consideration of many problems of pressing moment. President Hoover at the outset, as was to be expected, dealt with the economic depression of the past year, and in stating that "the world at large is readjusting itself to the situation," he made the further comment that "we should remember that these occasions have been met many times before, that they are but temporary, that our country is to-day stronger and richer in resources, in equipment, in skill than ever in its history." He went on to say: "We are in an extraordinary degree self-sustaining, we will overcome world influences and will lead the march of prosperity as we have always done hitherto." The various measures undertaken to relieve the unemployment conditions were alluded to by the President—these including the action taken by National, State and local governments, as well as the co-operation of business and industry. According to the President, "the number of those wholly out of employment seeking for work was accurately determined by the Census of last April as about 2,500,000. He added: "The Department of Labor index of employment in the larger trades shows some decrease in employment since that time. The problem from a relief point of view is somewhat less than the published estimates of the number of unemployed would indicate." The President had previously made known his intention to recommend to Congress "a special emergency appropriation to be applied to the further intensification of public works, public buildings and other forms of Federal construction," the proposed program being in addition to that already provided for involving an expenditure of $500,000,000. In his message he said:

> I have canvassed the departments of the Government as to the maximum amount that can be properly added to our present expenditure to accelerate all construction during the next six months, and I feel warranted in asking the Congress for an appropriation of from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 to provide such further employment in this emergency. In connection therewith, we need some authority to make enlarged temporary advances of Federal highway aid to the States.
> I recommend that this appropriation be made distributable to the different departments upon recommendation of a committee of the Cabinet and approval by the President. Its application to works already authorized by the Congress assures its use in directions of economic importance and to public welfare. Such action will imply an expenditure upon construction of all kinds of over $650,000,000 during the next twelve months.

The President also directed his remarks to "the world-wide depression" affecting "agriculture in common with other industries," and to the drouth suffered in the agricultural regions, and in behalf of the farmers he recommended that "an appropriation should be made to the Department of Agriculture to be loaned for the purpose of seed and feed for animals." The declining revenues of the Government were also referred to in the President's annual message, in which he reported an estimated deficit of about $180,000,000 for the present fiscal year. The Government finances were dealt with in more detail by the President in his budget message, sent to Congress on Dec. 3. The President also pointed out that "further legislation is necessary to facilitate railroad consolidation,"

Congress lost no time in enacting the various relief measures, more especially the bills making appropriations for relief of the drouth stricken areas, for emergency construction in behalf of the unemployed, for a new $150,000,000 appropriation to enable the Farm Board to become a part of the revolving fund, to be administered by the Federal Farm Board in continuing its operations in wheat, cotton and other agricultural products. On Dec. 19 both the House and the Senate adopted a resolution providing for an appropriation of $45,000,000 for advances or loans to farmers in the drouth or storm stricken areas of the United States and on Dec. 20 the President attached his signature to the resolution. This piece of legislation is designed for emergency assistance in behalf of farmers for the purchase of seed, fertilizer, feed for work stock, fuel and oil for tractors, &c. Loans and advances are to be made through such agencies as the Sec. of Agriculture may designate. As passed by the Senate originally (Dec. 9) the resolution authorized an appropriation of $60,000,000. Previously, on Dec. 6, the House Committee on Appropriations had fixed the amount at $30,000,000—$25,000,000 for drouth relief and $5,000,000 for farmers in the storm area. On Dec. 18 the House rejected the Senate amendments and passed legislation appropriating the $30,000,000 proposed by the House Committee. The bill went to conference Dec. 18, and on that date the conferees agreed upon an appropriation of $45,000,000. The conference report was accepted by both the House and Senate on Dec. 19. In Jan. 1931, however, Congress undertook to increase the amount to $60,000,000.

On Dec. 20 the President also signed the bill appropriating $116,000,000 for emergency construction on public works. The appropriations are divided as follows:

Federal aid highways system to States	$80,000,000
Rivers and harbors	22,500,000
Flood control on the Mississippi and tributaries	3,000,000
Highways in national forests	3,000,000
Roads and trails in national forests	3,000,000
Roads in unreserved public lands	3,000,000
Roads and trails in national parks	1,500,000
Total	$116,000,000

On Dec. 22 President Hoover signed the bill providing for an additional appropriation of $150,000,000 for the Farm Board. The $150,000,000 becomes part of the revolving fund of $500,000,000 authorized to be appropriated under the Agricultural Marketing Act. The additional funds were requested by President Hoover in a letter addressed to the Speaker of the House on Dec. 8. The House passed the bill on Dec. 18; the measure was favorably reported to the Senate on Dec. 19 from the Committee on Appropriations; near midnight on Dec. 20, before the adjournment of Congress for the Christmas holidays, the bill was passed by the Senate. Noting that the appropriation brings the total revolving fund so far available to the Board, for loans to co-operative associations and stabilizing corporations, up to $400,000,000 out of the original authorization of $500,000,000 in the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1929, the "United States Daily" of Dec. 23, said:

> The balance of $100,000,000, out of the total authorization is being considered by the House appropriation subcommittee on the independent offices appropriation bill, which will be reported to the House after the holidays. The independent offices bill, covering funds for the Farm Board, Shipping Board and other independent institutions, applies to the fiscal year beginning July 1 1931.

A hugely important development, one likely to be far reaching in its ultimate effect, occurred in the railroad world during the month. At the instance of President Hoover the railroads in what is known as Official Classification territory (not including New England) agreed upon a general plan for division of existing railroad mileage into four great groups or systems, comprising (1) the New York Central, (2) the Pennsylvania RR., (3) the Baltimore & Ohio, and (4) the Nickel Plate-Chesapeake & Ohio combination dominated by the VanSweringen brothers. This was a change from the plan suggested by the Inter-State Commerce Commission itself and which body must sanction the new arrangement before it can become legally effective, though there seems to be no doubt of the approval of the plan by the Commerce Commission. The Commission had suggested a fifth system, composed principally of the Wabash and the Seaboard Air Line, the latter of which, however, lies wholly outside of strictly Eastern trunk line territory and more properly deserves to be grouped with the railroads of the South. Under the scheme the Del. Lack. & West. goes to the New York Central, the Pennsylvania yields up control of the Lehigh Valley to the Van Sweringen combination, but gets the Wabash RR., and seems assured of trackage rights from the Nickel Plate along the shores of Lake Erie and into Buffalo, while to the Baltimore & Ohio is assigned (besides the Central RR. of New Jersey and the Reading, which have long constituted its outlet to New York) the Chicago & Alton, the Western Maryland and some smaller roads. The Van Sweringen combination, in addition to the Nickel Plate and the Lehigh Valley, will comprise the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Erie RR. The result altogether is the establishment of four well balanced and strong combinations or systems, all strongly entrenched for effective competition among one another, and the whole four capable of rendering the public service required of them in the territory which they drain and serve.

Senator Couzens of Michigan, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, in a statement given out on Dec. 31, criticized President Hoover's public endorsement of the consolidation plan, calling it unethical. Senator Couzens thought that the President should have withheld action until Congress could have had further time for consideration of the matter. Mr. Couzens referred to the fact that on May 21 1930 the United States Senate adopted a resolution to suspend all railroad consolidations for the time being by a vote of 46 to 27, with 23 not voting. Senator Couzens pointed out that this resolution went to the House, where it was reported by the Committee on Inter-State and Foreign Commerce in amended form, and is now on the House calendar. But Congress has had 10 years in which action might have been taken, and, for all that anyone knows to the contrary, might temporize for 10 years more.

As already stated, the depression in trade remained unrelieved during December, but rather became intensified. This was particularly true in the case of the steel trade, where activity in the closing month of the year came almost to a standstill. In the week ended Monday, Dec. 29, the steel mills of the country were engaged to only 24% of capacity. This, to be sure, included the Christmas holiday but even in the week preceding the mills were operating to only 34% of capacity, and two weeks before were engaged to no higher than 37% of capacity. The "Iron Age," in its issue of Jan. 1 1931, stated that the iron and steel industry had passed through a year of drastic readjustment. Prices had suffered uninterrupted decline, failing to show signs of stability until late in the fourth quarter. The American Iron & Steel Institute estimated the production of steel ingots for the 12 months of 1930 at only 39,652,539 tons against 54,312,279 tons in the 12 months of 1929. The "Iron Age" made the composite price of finished steel Dec. 29 2.121c. a pound, the same as had prevailed since Dec. 9, and comparing with 2.362c. Jan. 7 1930, the high figure of the year. The composite price of pig iron Dec. 29 was reported at $15.90 a gross ton, the figure prevailing since Dec. 16, and comparing with $18.21 a ton on Jan. 7 1930, the high figure of the year. The composite price of steel scrap Dec. 29 was given as $11.25, the low figure of the year, and comparing with $15 a ton on Feb. 18, the high figure of the year.

In the non-ferrous metals a sharp recovery occurred in the price of tin. Tin in New York, after dropping from 26.00c. a pound on Dec. 1 to 23.62½c. Dec. 15, sold up to 26.87½c. Dec. 29, and was 26.25c. Dec. 31. This was on negotiations looking to a restriction of tin exports. Proposals for a two-year program of tin export restriction affecting the principal producing centers of the world were made public in London the latter part of the month by Sir William Peat, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Tin Producers' Association. In its circular sent to members of the Association Sir William outlined details of a new international tin export quota scheme which was being considered by the Governments of the Federated Malay States, Dutch East Indies, Bolivia, and Nigeria, subject to the assent of all these Governments. The agreement will embrace practically 90% of the world's output of tin. The new international quotas, according to the announcement, will take effect retroactively as from Jan. 1 1931, although it may be impractical for necessary ordinances and directions to be passed until a subsequent date. Any tin or tin ore exported after Dec. 31 1930 will, accordingly, be brought within the allotted quotas for the first quarter of 1931. The quota agreement is to continue in force for a period of two years, or until the end of 1932. The quotas, but not the ratios of the quotas, will be varied from time to time, the purpose of the agreement being correlation of supply and demand and the reduction of present accumulated stocks to normal proportions. In copper also improvement occurred the latter part of the month, after a further weakening the early part. Lake copper here at New York was marked down a full cent on Dec. 10 from 12⅛c. to 11⅛c.; was further reduced to 10⅝c. Dec. 16, and to 10⅛c. Dec. 18, but then moved up to 10⅜c. Dec. 23 and then to 10⅝c. Dec. 29. Electrolytic copper here in New York dropped from 11¼c. Dec. 2 to 9¾c. Dec. 15, and then recovered to 10c. Dec. 22, and then to 10¼c. Dec. 29, which was also the price Dec. 31. Lead at New York remained unchanged throughout the month at 5.10c. In petroleum and its products the prorationing policy so generally being enforced began to show effects, and the daily average production of crude oil for the week ending Dec. 27 was down to 2,126,750 barrels, as against 2,607,700 barrels per day in the corresponding week of 1929, and the lowest daily average production since the week ended July 31 1926, when it was 2,115,850 barrels. The principal changes in prices were a further cut of 10c. a barrel in the price of certain grades of oil in the Pennsylvania field and an advance in bulk gasoline in New York and along the entire Atlantic seaboard. The principal price changes of the month are shown in the following:

CRUDE OIL.

Dec. 29.—Champlin Refining Co. posted a flat price of 67c. a barrel for Mid-Continent crude. Eason Oil met the price cut, effective Dec. 30.

Dec. 31.—Joseph Seep Purchasing Agency posted a reduction of 10c. a barrel in the price of Corning crude, making present quotation $1.15 a barrel.

GASOLINE AND KEROSENE.

Dec. 1.—All refiners in the Gulf Coast export market quote U. S. Motor Gasoline, in tank car lots, at the refiners, at 5½c. a gallon.

Dec. 5.—U. S. Motor Gasoline is quoted in Chicago at 4⅝ to 4¾c. a gallon, off ⅛c. a gallon.

Tuesday, Dec. 9.—Export gasoline and kerosene prices in the Gulf Coast reduced ¼c. a gallon with all refiners making cut.

Thursday, Dec. 11.—S. O. of New Jersey announces a cut of 15c. a barrel in Diesel oil at New York and Southern ports.

Dec. 17.—Continental Oil, Phillips Petroleum, Standard of Indiana and other major companies announced a 2c. a gallon cut in the service station price of gasoline in Denver, Colorado.

Dec. 17.—Standard Oil of Ohio announced a cut of 2c. a gallon in the price of gasoline throughout its territory.

Dec. 23.—Effecdive as of Dec. 19, Standard Oil of New York announces reductions of from 1c. to 3c. a gallon in the price of tank-wagon gasoline throughout the New York and New England territory. All other major refiners met the cut immediately.

Dec. 30.—Tidewater Oil Co. posted an advance of ½c. a gallon in U. S. Motor Gasoline, in tank car lots, at the refiners.

Dec. 31.—Sinclair Refining met the ½c. a gallon advance posted by Tidewater Oil Dec. 30.

In the textile trades there were no new developments of any great moment. There was a better relation between output and sales, but simply owing to rigid adherence to the policy of restricted output. In cotton goods statistical reports of production, sales, and shipments of standard cotton cloths during the month of November 1930, were made public on Dec. 10 by the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York. These figures covered four weeks of the month. They showed that production during November had amounted to only 206,633,000 yards, or at the rate of 51,658,000 yards per week. This was 25.2% less than in November 1929, when the rate was 69,029,000 yards per week. On the basis of this curtailed output statistics showed shipments during November of 200,661,000 yards, equivalent to 97.1% of production, with sales during the month of 183,067,000 yards, or 88.6% of production. Stocks on hand at the end of the month amounted to 356,861,000 yards, representing an increase of 1.7% during the month. Unfilled orders on Nov. 30 were 333,251,000 yards, representing a decrease of 5% during the month. The United States Census, in its report for November, issued Dec. 13, showed only 414,887 bales of lint cotton and 54,777 bales of linters consumed in the United States during November 1930 as compared with 541,153 bales of lint and 63,214 bales of linters in November 1929. Nothing is known as to the operations of the Federal Farm Board in the cotton market, but the price of spot cotton in New York during December dropped to below 10c. a pound, and most of the month ruled below that figure, though with a recovery again to 10c. in the closing days of the month, which compared with 10.55c. on Saturday, Nov. 29. The low price for December was 9.45c. Dec. 15, and the high figure 10.60c. Dec. 2. Print cloths at Fall River for 28-inch 64x60 were marked down Dec. 2 from 4½c. to 4⅜c. per yard, and to 4¼c. Dec. 11, and to 4⅛c. Dec. 19. The Agricultural Bureau at Washington on Dec. 8 made public its final estimate of the 1930 crop in this country and put the production at 14,243,000 bales, compared with 14,438,000 bales, the estimate a month previous, and with 14,828,000 bales the crop raised in 1929, and 14,478,000 bales in 1928. Ginning returns covering the season up to Dec. 13 showed 13,259,622 bales ginned the current season up to that date as against 13,456,783 bales in 1929 and 13,144,333 bales in 1928. The Egyptian Government became alarmed because of the continued depreciation in the price of the staple, and under date of Dec. 10 the Government Cotton Commissioner announced the suspension of the cotton futures market at Alexandria for 15 days, beginning the next day.

In the woolens and worsteds markets seasonal quietude, aggravated by the bad times, was the dominant feature. A state of confusion, said to be unique in the floor covering market, prevailed in New York on Dec. 1 at the opening of spring rug and carpet lines to the trade. The Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Co., Inc., announced price reductions which ranged from 10 to 30%, and caused earlier prices to be withdrawn. W. & J. Sloane, selling agents for the Alexander Smith & Sons Carpet Co., C. H. Masland & Sons, Inc., and the Barrymore Seamless Wiltons, Inc., first announced reductions which averaged about 10%, but these were withdrawn and new prices at the Bigelow-Sanford levels brought out the next day. In silks, advices from Chicago, Dec. 2, stated that beginning on that day Marshall Field & Co., retail, had stated in press paper announcements that "due to the reduced prices on raw silk we announce new low prices on these well-known silks." It was stated that "we feel reductions in prices such as these deserve immediate announcement to our patrons. The price amendments include a much larger group than the silks mentioned." It was stated that the three-column advertisement of the company, three-quarters of a page in length, had caused a great deal of comment in the silk trade. Japanese raw silks in this market, however, showed improvement; in fact, there was quite a strong trend to the silk market, and Japanese double extra 13-15 deniers were quoted Dec. 31 at $2.60@$2.70 against $2.40@2.45 on Nov. 29 and on Oct. 31; $2.35@$2.45 Sept. 30; $2.95@$3.00 Aug. 29; $2.85@$2.95 July 31; $3.10@$3.15 June 30; $3.90@$3.95 May 31; $4.10@$4.15 April 30, and $4.70@$4.75 Jan. 31. In the 20-22 deniers Japanese crack double extra were quoted at $2.70@$2.75 Dec. 31 compared with $2.30@$2.35 on Nov. 29; $2.25@$2.30 on Oct. 31 and also on Sept. 30; $2.65@$2.70 Aug. 29; $2.70@$2.75 July 31; $2.85@$2.90 June 30; $3.75@$3.80 May 31; $4.10@$4.15 April 30, and $4.60@$4.65 on Jan. 31. Crude rubber prices again developed weakness, after the advance the previous month, which was carried somewhat further the early part of December. Ribbed smoked sheets for spot delivery were quoted at 8⅜@8½c. on Dec. 31 against 9@9⅛c. Nov. 29; 8⅝@8⅞c. Oct. 31; 7⅜@7½c. Sept. 30; 9⅝@9¾c. Aug. 29; 10⅜@10½c. July 31; 12@12⅜c. June 30; 13¾@14c. May 31; 14@14¼c. April 30; 15½@15¾c. Mar. 31, and 15¾@15⅞c. Feb. 28. The Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. early in the month notified between 750 and 1,000 employees to return to their jobs, making it clear, however, that it was employing only men who were formerly with the company and who remained unemployed and resided in Akron. Increased production was also reported Dec. 9 at Akron by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. factory at that point, together with resumption of employment on a basis of eight hours a day, five days in the week. The company had been working six-hour shifts four days a week. The change was to go into effect Jan. 5.

An Associated Press cablegram from Batavia, Java, on Dec. 19, stated that a telegram from Medem, Sumatra, had said that the Societe Financiere had decided to reduce its production of rubber in 1931 by 20%, and to discontinue tapping rubber trees in low-producing areas.

The International Sugar Conference met a snag in the failure of Germany to join, and sugar prices suffered a renewed decline. Cuban raw sugar in this market as against 1.43c. Nov. 25, on Dec. 29 sold down to 1.14c. The wholesale price of refined sugar here in New York was marked down Dec. 15 from 4.75c. to 4.65c., and on Dec. 22 was further reduced to 4.55c. However, the International Conference, in its final session at Brussels, on Dec. 15, determined to proceed with its five-year restriction plan, but contingent on Germany entering into the agreement by Jan. 15. Under date of Dec. 22 it was indicated in Associated Press cablegrams from Berlin that the German sugar men, who refused to join a world restriction program at Brussels because they felt the export limit allotted them was too small, had made a new proposal to Thomas L. Chadbourne, and early in Jan. 1931 gave its adhesion to the plan.

Coffee prices continued to rule low, and the Brazilian Government summoned a parley for Mar. 31 to consider the situation. No. 7 Rio in this market was quoted at 7¼@7½c. Dec. 31 against 7½c. Nov. 29; 8½c. on Oct. 31; 7⅜@7½c. on Sept. 30; 6¼@6½c. Aug. 29; 7½c. July 31, and 8¾c. at the end of June. No. 7 Santos, Dec. 31, was down to 8¾@9¼c. Dec. 31 against 10@10½c. Nov. 29; 11@11¼c. Oct. 31; 10¼@11c. Sept. 30; 8¾@9¼c. Aug. 29, and at 10@10½c. July 31, as well as on June 30.

THE DECEMBER FINANCING OF THE UNITED STATES TREASURY.

Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon offered for subscription in December two new issues of Treasury certificates of indebtedness at the lowest rates of interest ever named in any issue of certificates, and overwhelming success attended his action. Of course the long-continued ease in money, with the inordinately low interest rates prevailing for all classes of loans, in addition to the lack of confidence in ordinary securities growing out of the huge collapse in bond values, with an over-growing volume of idle funds for which it was difficult to find employment and which made everyone turn to United States Government securities as a form of investment likely to suffer least in the general depreciation of security values which had become the most distressing development of the times, was the controlling factor in the Treasury's achievement in floating certificates at the unprecedentedly low rates of 1¾% per annum for an issue running six months, and at 1⅞% per annum for an issue running for a full year. In addition, however, there was still another factor which played no small part in contributing to the success. Toward the close of November, as narrated in our summary for that month, there came an announcement from the Treasury Department at Washington with reference to the rates of interest to be allowed on Government deposits which was bound to have an important bearing upon any new offerings of Treasury certificates of indebtedness. It is the practice of the United States Treasury, as is well known, to leave the proceeds of the sales of certificates on deposit with the banks through whom or on behalf of which the subscriptions are made, and to draw these Government deposits down only as needed from time to time. On such deposits, however, the depositary banks are obliged to pay interest to the Government for the time during which the deposits are retained. On Nov. 26 a circular came from the Treasury Department at Washington stating that beginning Dec. 1 the interest required to be paid on such deposits would be only 1½% per annum against the previous 2%. The 2% rate had been maintained so long that it had been looked upon as almost a fixture, never to be departed from.

In the newspapers the reduction in the rate to be allowed on Government deposits was interpreted at the time as having been prompted by a desire to effect a lowering of the rate in the large new issues of certificates which were known to be forthcoming. While obviously the action was destined to lead to a reduction, the step, it is not difficult to perceive, grew inevitably out of the extreme ease prevailing in the money market. Owing to such ease it was no longer profitable for the banks, at least in New York City, to carry such deposits by paying 2% upon them. These deposits are often of large amount and are allowed to be retained by the banks for long periods. At the September sale of $334,211,000 certificates of indebtedness the Government deposits growing out of the same reached no less than $272,693,000, and the last installment of the deposits was not called for payment until Dec. 3. One point always in favor of Government deposits is that the banks holding them are not required to carry any reserves against them, and another point is that, if money rates are sufficiently high, a profit can be made upon them in loaning them out in the money market. But the situation now was that call loans upon the Stock Exchange commanded only 2%, and that outside of the Stock Exchange considerable money was being loaned at only 1½%, and some funds even at not higher than 1% per annum, while the rate for bankers' acceptances for bills of 30-, 60- and 90-day maturity was 2% bid and 1⅞% asked. Plainly a lowering of the rate of interest on the Government deposits represented by the proceeds of the sale was incumbent upon the Treasury Department. Retention of the 2% rate might even have put the placing of the certificates in jeopardy, though, of course, it was extremely unlikely that failure of an offering of certificates would have been permitted under any circumstances. At all events, the lowering of the interest rate from 2% to 1½% gave the banks an additional leeway of ½ of 1% for making profit out of subscriptions. But obviously while on the one hand the Treasury stood to lose by reason of the reduced rate of interest it received on the Government deposits growing out of the sale of the certificates, on the other hand there was the offsetting advantage to result from the placing of the certificates at much lower rates of interest. At the sale of certificates in September the rate of interest was 2⅜%. The Secretary of the Treasury at the new sale reduced the rate, as already stated, on the certificates running for a year to 1⅞%, which was just the ½ of 1% difference in the rate of interest required to be paid on the Government deposits, and he cut the rate on the certificates running six months to 1¾%, a reduction in that case of ⅝ of 1%. The September certificates ran for a period of a year. On the present occasion the Secretary offered altogether $400,000,000 of certificates, consisting (1) of $150,000,000 of certificates running for six months and bearing, as already stated, 1¾% interest, and (2) $250,000,000 of certificates running for one year and bearing 1⅞% interest. The subscriptions for the six months' issue aggregated the huge sum of $939,372,000, and those for the $250,000,000 one-year issue $517,825,000. Treasury certificates of indebtedness maturing Dec. 15 1930 were accepted in payment for the new certificates, but were promised preferred allotment only to the extent of $80,000,000 —$30,000,000 in the case of the 6 months' issue bearing 1¾% interest and $50,000,000 in the case of the 12 months' issue bearing 1⅞% interest. The offering of the new certificates was announced Sunday night, Dec. 7, and the books, after having been opened on Monday, Dec. 8, were closed at the close of business the next day, Dec. 9. The Secretary made allotments altogether aggregating $428,322,000, of which $348,504,500 were cash subscriptions and $79,817,500 exchange subscriptions. The amount of the six months' issue allotted was $159,941,000, of which $29,840,500 were exchange subscriptions, and the amount allotted in the case of the yearly issue $268,381,000, of which $49,977,000 were exchange subscriptions. In his preliminary announcement Secretary Mellon stated that about $480,000,000 of old Treasury certificates and $90,000,000 in interest payments on the public debt would become due and payable on Dec. 15 1930, while about $51,000,000 in Treasury bills would be payable on Dec. 16 and $51,000,000 on Dec. 17.

NEW SECURITY ISSUES AND DIVIDENDS IN DECEMBER.

Foreign government financing in the domestic market during December was of small volume and consisted of the following:

FOREIGN FINANCING.

$14,350,000 Canadian Pacific Ry. 4½% equip. trust gold ctfs. series C at prices to yield from 3% to 4.60% according to maturity, due from June 1 1931 to Dec. 1 1945. By the Union Trust Co. of Pittsburgh, Bankers Co. of New York, Brown Brothers & Co. and Bank of Montreal.

4,000,000 Province of British Columbia 4% notes at 99.50, a basis of about 4.26% and due Dec. 15 1932. By a syndicate managed by Dillon, Read & Co., of New York.

500,000 Porto Rico (Government of) 4½% workmen's relief bonds, due from 1931 to 1950 incl., purchased at 102.156, a basis of about 4.23%, by Hallgarten & Co. and the Bancamerica-Blair Corp., both of New York, jointly. Reoffered at prices to yield from 2.50 to 4.125%, according to maturity.

Domestic offerings for the month of December were on a reduced scale. The $35,000,000 offering of Toledo Light & Power Co. 5% secured gold notes at 99½ and int., yielding over 5¼% was the outstanding issue. The month's financing, classified as to nature of business and size of issue, is shown below, the table including only issues of $5,000,000 and above:

PUBLIC UTILITY FINANCING.

$35,000,000 Toledo Light & Power Co. 5% secured gold notes at 99½ and int., yielding over 5¼% and due Dec. 1 1932. By a group headed by Harris, Forbes & Co., including the National City Co., Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., and Chase Securities Corp.

8,000,000 Peoples Gas, Light & Coke Co., serial gold notes by Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc. The maturities prices and yields are as follows:

$2,000,000 4¼%, due Feb. 1 1933	100.00	4.25%
2,000,000 4½%, due Feb. 1 1934	100.00	4.50%
2,000,000 4½%, due Feb. 1 1935	99.53	4.62%
2,000,000 4½%, due Feb. 1 1936	98.86	4.75%

6,000,000 Virginia Public Service Co. 1st mtge. & ref. 20-yr. 5% gold bonds, series B at 90 and int. to yield 5.85% and due Dec. 1 1950. By E. H. Rollins & Sons, Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc.; Hill, Joiner & Co., Inc.; H. M. Byllesby & Co., Inc.; Blyth & Co., Inc.; A. B. Leach & Co., Inc., and Eastman, Dillon & Co.

INDUSTRIAL AND MISCELLANEOUS FINANCING.

$5,000,000 Straus-Manhattan Co., Inc. 1st mtge. 6% conv. coll. trust bonds at 100 and int., due Dec. 1 1933. By S. W. Straus & Co., Inc.

THE COURSE OF THE STOCK MARKET DURING DECEMBER 1930.

The stock market during December fell into a new state of collapse fully as pronounced as any previously experienced and more disturbing than any of the previous declines because of the cumulative effect of the steady depreciation continued month after month for so long a period of time.

December thus formed a fitting close to a year in which, except during the first three months (in the period familiarly known as the "spring rise," when there was an upward reaction from the extremely low figures reached in the great market crash of the autumn of 1929) prices kept sliding down almost all the while, the whole constituting what will probably always be known as the most disastrous year in Stock Exchange history. Taking the averages for 50 stocks compiled by the New York "Times" as a basis, heavy losses occurred in each of the last nine months of the year, except in July and August, and when the 25 railroad stocks included are considered separately it is found that in the case of these railroad issues there was only a single month, namely, July, when the downward movement was arrested, a brief upward reaction being then enjoyed. This makes it plain that the railroads were hardest hit of all, and, as a matter of fact, the railroads really sustained a frightful falling off in traffic and revenues, their net income in many cases being cut almost in two and hardly any important railroad system registering a shrinkage in net income of less than 20 to 30%—a shrinkage well calculated to impair confidence in the value and stability of railroad securities of every kind. Both in the case of the whole 50 stocks and the 25 industrial stocks, the high point for the year was reached on April 10, and the low point on Dec. 17. And this affords a pretty accurate notion of the course of the market during the 12 months. From the extreme depth of the depression reached on Dec. 17 there was relatively little recovery by the end of the year, though the recovery was greater in the case of the 50 stocks, which consist mainly of high grade issues, than in the case of the stock market as a whole, some of the inferior stocks having declined almost to the vanishing point. For the 50 stocks combined the decline between April 10 and Dec. 17 was over 110 points (over $110 per share), and for the 25 industrial stocks by themselves the depreciation was over 161 points (over $161 per share). In the case of the 25 railroad stocks, though the drop in actual number of points, or dollars per share, was not so large, yet the fact is the railroad average was cut almost in two, the low for the year on these railroad stocks at $74.20 Dec. 17 comparing with $136 Mar. 29, and, we might add, with $158 on Sept. 3 1929, the latter being just before the stock market crash of that year; the close Dec. 31 for these railroad stocks was $80.38. In the case of the 25 industrial stocks the low for 1930 at $196.67 Dec. 17 compares with $358.16 April 10, and with $469.49 Sept. 19 1929. The close Dec. 31 1930 for these 25 industrial stocks was $209.23. For the whole 50 stocks the low for Dec. 17 1930 at $135.43 compares with $245.60 April 10 1930, and with $311.90 Sept. 19 1929; the close Dec. 31 for the 50 stocks was $144.80. As an interesting record we print here these averages month by month as given by the New York "Times," adding at the end the range for the calendar year 1929 in addition to that given for the calendar year 1930, so as to afford comparison with the peak figures reached immediately before the stock market panic of 1929.

If we look for causes for the renewed collapse in the market which came in December—in addition, we mean, to the utter prostration of trade and business in all their varied lines—we find two of special prominence, the same two that occasioned such havoc in the stock market during the previous month, November. We allude to the epidemic of bank failures which was such a special depressing feature during November and the continued decline in bond prices which in November was an equally conspicuous depressing feature, and which now in December, as the descent downward continued, assumed really startling dimensions and such as to engender positive feelings of alarm. We do not think that any parallel to this huge shrinkage in bond values can be found in past records. Even really gilt-edged bond issues did not escape. In the case of many perfectly good bonds, where fluctuations from day to day are ordinarily confined to mere fractions, declines of several points occurred from day to day, with the aggregate loss for the period of two or three months during which the bond market was especially weak, running all the way from five to 20 points, while in the case of bonds, regarding the future of which some doubt, no matter how slight, might arise because of the bad times, market values simply faded away, no less so than in the case of the stocks of the same roads. Some instances of these huge declines are given further along in this article.

In the last analysis an intimate connection is no doubt to be found between the extreme weakness in the bond market and the bank failures which proved so extremely disturbing and served so greatly to unsettle confidence. The bank failures which came with such startling frequency from all parts of the country, and eventually involved some very large institutions in this city and in Philadelphia, very naturally made depositors suspicious, especially the timid and emotional kind, regarding the standing of banking institutions generally, even concerning those the stability of which there could not be the least doubt. In order to be ready for large withdrawals of deposits growing out of this state of apprehension, banks everywhere undertook to prepare for unfortunate eventualities and undertook to put themselves in a perfectly liquid condition. There were only two ways in which this could be done, either (1) by increasing their borrowings at the Federal Reserve Banks, which the returns of these latter show they did, or (2) by disposing of some of their security holdings which it is perfectly evident that they also did. In addition, no doubt there was some selling of bonds to protect stocks carried on margins and which margins had to be increased as stock prices moved lower and still lower.

On Monday, Dec. 1, and Tuesday, Dec. 2, the stock market was fairly steady and the general course of stock values showed a slight upward reaction. Congress convened on the first of these days, and the President's message was sent in the next day. This message, as well as the President's budget measure, which came the next day, was well received, but was really without effect upon the market. After these first two days, however, the market was almost continuously weak up until Dec. 17. The railroad shares were a particularly weak feature, and the great further decline in the bond market, almost to the point of absolute collapse, and the cause and reason for which was a complete mystery to most persons, proved accelerating factors in sending stock prices down to further low levels. On Monday, Dec. 8, the market suffered a severe break on the news that the negotiations for merging the Bank of United States with the Manufacturers' Trust Co., the Public National Bank & Trust Co., and the International Trust Co. had fallen through, and the downward movement continued through Tuesday, Dec. 9, and Wednesday, Dec. 10, with only occasional slight rallies, which never held very long. There was evidently knowledge that some calamity was impending. On Thursday, before the opening of the market, there came definite knowledge of the closing of the Bank of United States. Some supporting orders, previously lacking, were now in evidence, intended no doubt to prevent a general collapse, which is to be feared on such occasions, but the market nevertheless for many stocks moved still lower, even if not to any great extent; an upward reaction at one time during the day was not fully maintained at the close. On Friday, Dec. 12, further declines were held pretty well in check, and yet marked weakness was in evidence in parts of the list. The railroad shares, which had been conspicuously weak before, now yielded first place to the public utility shares and the different groups of industrial properties, mostly the high-priced ones. The copper shares at this time were adversely affected by a setback in the price of the metal, the leading copper producers dropping their price to the figure previously quoted by the custom smelters. The market now, day after day, continued extremely nervous and unsettled, with prices tending steadily downward. For instance, in the half-day session on Saturday, Dec. 13, 208 stocks made new low records for the year. On Monday, Dec. 15, the weakness was further accentuated and 304 stocks dropped to new low levels for 1930, and on Tuesday, Dec. 16, the downward movement continued unabated, with 265 stocks dropping to new low figures, including, of course, some stocks which had distinguished themselves in that way on previous days.

On Wednesday, Dec. 17, there came the climax in the downward movement. On that day the market in the morning fell into a state of almost utter collapse and 370 stocks established new low records for the year. But then the turn occurred. At the very time when the market was weakest the turn came and prices shot up with great rapidity. The market all at once completely reversed its course. The fluctuations were violent in the extreme, and in the upward surge on that day most of the stocks recovered the whole of the losses suffered earlier in the day and a great deal more. As a few illustrations, Atchison, which in the early morning break touched 168, rose to 178½ in the afternoon; New York Central, which had dropped to 105⅛, sold in the afternoon at 111⅝; U. S. Steel, which had sold in the morning at 134⅝, advanced in the afternoon to 140, and American Can, which had dropped to 104⅝, advanced to 111⅞. Liquidation in the morning was extremely heavy, but buying in the afternoon was still more impressive, and the sales for the day aggregated over 5,000,000 shares, the exact total for the day being 5,005,885 shares. This was the only day distinguished for such large sales, though the day before (Dec. 16) transactions were also quite heavy, aggregating 4,156,110 shares. The rest of the month trading was relatively light, often falling below 2,000,000 shares, and only infrequently running above 3,000,000 shares. On Thursday, Dec. 18, the upward movement was continued, with further extensive covering of shorts. A gratifying feature now appeared in a sharp rally also in the bond market, which on the previous day had shown weakness only second to that experienced by the stock market. Towards the close of the day, however, the rise was interrupted by heavy selling and rapidly declining prices for the copper stocks. These latter once more dropped to new low levels for the year, owing to the inability of producers to maintain market prices for the metal, either on domestic account or for export, the domestic price falling to 10c. a pound, and the export price to 10.30 against 12.00 and 12.30c., respectively, when the agreement was reached the previous month among the world copper producers to move prices up to higher levels. On Friday, Dec. 19, the course of prices was somewhat irregular, with the copper shares again weak and with more or less selling to realize profits. Only 42 stocks, however, made new low records for the year on Thursday, Dec. 18, and 28 stocks on Friday, Dec. 19. For the week ending that Friday, however, no less than 704 stocks declined to the lowest figures of the year.

The trend now was upward, and so remained the rest of the month, but further adverse developments were to interrupt recovery. On Monday, Dec. 22, the course of prices at first was rather uneven on a diminished volume of trading, but when the news came of the failure of the Bankers' Trust Co. of Philadelphia, an institution with resources in excess of $50,000,000, prices took a downward turn, with moderate losses all around. On Tuesday, Dec. 23, the market again at first developed a rising tendency, but then intelligence came of the closing of the Chelsea Bank & Trust Co. of this city by the State Superintendent of Banks, and this once more had an unsettling effect, without leading to any pronounced general break. On Wednesday, Dec. 24, the market developed a firm tone on a small volume of trading, and in some quarters this was ascribed to the action of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, after the close of business the day before, in quite unexpectedly reducing its rate of rediscount from 2½% to 2%, but appeared to be due almost entirely to the closing of trading accounts preparatory to the Christmas holiday on Thursday and to the development of general lethargy in trading incident to the holiday season. Quite an acquisition of strength was given the copper shares by the action of the Anaconda Copper Co. in keeping the quarterly dividend rate unchanged at 62½c. a share, instead of making a further reduction on top of the reduction made the previous quarter from 87½c. a share to 62½c. a share. At the same time the Anaconda Wire & Cable Co. and the Andes Copper Mining Co., both controlled by the Anaconda Copper Co., also declared unchanged quarterly dividends of 25c. a share. On Friday, Dec. 26, after the Christmas holiday, the market, still under the influence of the holiday spirit, was very dull, with at first no pronounced movement in prices, except that the railroad list continued to shade off owing to the unfavorable character of the November statements of earnings which came to hand for a number of different roads and systems. As the day wore on, however, general weakness developed, though the copper stocks continued to display strength owing to the fact that an appreciation in the market price of the metal was now taking place. The market manifested renewed weakness on Saturday, Dec. 27, and Monday, Dec. 29. In explanation, it was stated that extensive selling was taking place in order to establish losses in income tax returns for the year 1930. An additional unsettling influence on Dec. 29 was a rise in the call loan rate on the Stock Exchange. This rate had the previous Friday, Dec. 26, risen from 2% to 2½%. Now a further rise to 4% occurred. But this was soon seen to be a temporary matter, due to the large calling of loans, chiefly by out-of-town banks who were indulging in window-dressing for the purpose of showing a strong liquid position in their statements for the end of the year. It also followed in no small part as the result of preparations for the end-of-the-year settlements and for the heavy 1st of January dividend and interest disbursements. The rate dropped back to 3½% on Dec. 30, and to 3% on Dec. 31, and went still lower after the New Year holiday.

After Monday, Dec. 29, in the two closing days of the month, the stock market once more underwent a complete transformation, turning sharply upward again. The transformation was occasioned by the news which came after the close of business on Monday, Dec. 29, that the Eastern trunk lines had reached an agreement for parceling out the railroad lines in their territory among the four great trunk systems, namely, the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore & Ohio, and the Nickel Plate-Ches. & Ohio, and that the establishment of a fifth trunk line system, made up the Wabash, the Lehigh Valley, and the Seaboard Air Line had been abandoned. This news came suddenly and unexpectedly, and had the effect of frightening short sellers, who, accordingly, undertook to cover their outstanding short commitments, with the result of producing sharp recoveries in the leading railroad shares, the rise in these in turn causing an advance in the general market. Before the up-turn occurred, however, many railroad stocks touched new low figures for the year. This was on Tuesday, Dec. 30. On Wednesday, Dec. 31, the market gained further strength when it appeared that President Hoover had been the prime mover in getting the railroad managers to lay their difficulties aside and reach a common accord, the purpose being to aid in bringing about business recovery.

Excepting on the two days already referred to, namely, Dec. 16 and Dec. 17, when the bear market reached its climax, trading was light. On the New York Stock Exchange the aggregate of the sales for the month was 58,764,397 shares, which compares with 83,861,660 shares in December 1929 and 92,837,350 shares in December 1928. On the Curb Exchange the sales were only 15,897,300 shares against 26,817,900 shares in December 1929 and 28,334,955 shares in December 1928. For the year 1930 as a whole the volume of trading, while very much smaller than in the hectic year of 1929, was by no means light. On the New York Stock Exchange the transactions for the 12 months of 1930 reached 810,038,161 shares, which compares with 1,124,991,490 shares in the 12 months of 1929 and 919,661,825 shares in the calendar year 1928, but with only 516,357,406 shares in 1927 and 450,845,256 shares in 1926. On the New York Curb Exchange the sales for the year reached 222,268,045 shares, against 477,278,130 shares in 1929; 221,171,781 shares in 1928, and 86,923,776 shares in 1927.

The railroads were the weakest feature of the whole market all through the year, and the greater number of them reached their lowest figures for 1930 during December, a few of them even touching new low levels in the closing days of the month, though the general market was then enjoying recovery from the low depths reached on Dec. 17. Considering the extent of the decline in previous months, the further losses sustained by the railroad list during December seems really amazing. Thus Atlantic Coast Line dropped from 125¼ Dec. 2 to 95¼ Dec. 30, and closed Dec. 31 at 100¼; Atchison dropped from 191½ Dec. 1 to 168 Dec. 17, and closed Dec. 31 at 178½; New York Central tumbled from 132 Dec. 2 to 105⅛ Dec. 17, and closed Dec. 31 at 114½; Norfolk & Western dropped from 208 Dec. 3 to 181½ Dec. 17, and closed Dec. 31 at 197; Southern Railway stock fell from 65¼ Dec. 3 to 46½ Dec. 29, with the close Dec. 31 at 50¾; St. Louis-San Francisco broke from 63½ Dec. 1 to 39¾ Dec. 29, with the close Dec. 31 at 41; Union Pacific moved down from 188½ Dec. 1 to 166½ Dec. 17, with the close Dec. 31 at 180; Southern Pacific from 102¾ Dec. 3 to 88 Dec. 17, with the close Dec. 31 at 93¾; Balt. & Ohio from 76 Dec. 2 to 55⅝ Dec. 16, with the close Dec. 31 at 69⅛; Rock Island from 61⅜ Dec. 1 to 45¼ Dec. 17, with the close Dec. 31 at 48¾; Del. & Hudson from 142¾ Dec. 2 to 130½ Dec. 29, with the close Dec. 31 at 136½; Chicago & North West. from 42⅛ Dec. 2 to 28½ Dec. 29, with the close Dec. 31 at 34½; Illinois Central from 81 Dec. 1 to 65¾ Dec. 22, with the close Dec. 31 at 70½; Louisville & Nashville from 104½ Dec. 2 to 84 Dec. 29, with the close Dec. 31 at 88; Reading from 93¾ Dec. 2 to 73 Dec. 17, with the close Dec. 31 at 80. In the case of the local traction stocks a general plan of consolidation was submitted by Samuel Untermyer towards the close of the month, but while these shares moved sharply upward on several occasions during the month, on favorable rumors regarding the course of the negotiations, they actually were lower at the end of December than at the beginning. Thus, Brooklyn-Manhattan, as against 66⅜ Dec. 2, sold down to 55⅛ on Dec. 23, the low point of the year, with the close Dec. 31 at 61⅛. Interb. Rapid Transit, as against 30¼ Dec. 2, sold down to 21¼ Dec. 13, and closed Dec. 31 at 26⅝. The copper stocks, as already indicated, suffered further sharp depreciation the early part of the month, when the price of the metal weakened, but were strong the latter part, when the price of the metal recovered. As illustrations, Anaconda Copper fell from 37¾ Dec. 2 to 25 Dec. 17, and closed Dec. 31 at 30, while Kennecott Copper declined from 29¾ Dec. 2 to 20⅛ Dec. 17, and closed Dec. 31 at 23¼. As to the industrial list generally, Amer. Tel. & Tel. fell from 190⅝ Dec. 2 to 170⅜ Dec. 17, and closed Dec. 31 at 178⅝; International Tel. & Tel. fell from 27⅞ Dec. 2 to 17½ Dec. 29, and closed Dec. 31 at 19⅝; U. S. Steel dropped from 147½ Dec. 2 to 134⅜ Dec. 17, with the close Dec. 31 at 139⅛; General Electric dropped from 50¾ Dec. 2 to 41½ Dec. 27, with the close Dec. 31 at 43⅝; Allied Chemical & Dye from 207½ Dec. 3 to 170¼ Dec. 17, with the close Dec. 31 at 175¼; American Can from 119 Dec. 2 to 104⅝ Dec. 17, with the close Dec. 31 at 110½; Case Threshing Machine from 113 Dec. 2 to 83½ Dec. 27, with the close Dec. 31 at 89⅜; American & Foreign Power from 40 Dec. 2 to 25 Dec. 17, with the close Dec. 31 at 28¼; Westinghouse Elec. & Mfg. from 102⅜ Dec. 2 to 88⅛ Dec. 27, with the close Dec. 31 at 91¼. Sears Roebuck & Co. fell from 56⅝ Dec. 1 to 43⅛ Dec. 26, with the close Dec. 31 at 45⅛; this stock sold at 100⅝ Jan. 31. Nearly all other stocks show similar depreciation of huge magnitude for the year, and in order that the reader may be able to see the record in that respect, which record would seem to be without parallel in Stock Exchange history, we insert here the following table, showing, first, the high prices reached in 1929, before the advent of the panic, second, the high price for 1930, also the low price for 1930, with the close Dec. 31:

HIGH PRICES FOR 1929—HIGH AND LOW WITH CLOSING FOR 1930.

	High in 1929.	High in 1930.	Low in 1930.	Close Dec. 31 1930.

The bond market, as already stated, suffered tremendous further depreciation during December, but also enjoyed smart recovery in the closing days of the month. In the following table we undertake to show the extent of the depreciation which occurred during the 12 months in the case of a limited number of bonds. These indicate the year's collapse in such a graphic way that it seems unnecessary to enlarge upon the story.

THE MONEY MARKET DURING DECEMBER 1930.

While during December there was no abatement of the extreme ease prevailing in the money market for so long, there were one or two occasions during the month when slight spurts upward occurred. These, however, were due to special and temporary causes involving no change in underlying conditions which continued to show a great plethora of loanable funds, and the latter part of the month the Federal Reserve Bank of New York again stepped into the arena and accentuated the prevailing ease by further lowering its rediscount rate, already at the unprecedentedly low figure of 2½% and the lowest in Federal Reserve history, to the still lower figure of 2%, while at the same time marking down its buying rate for acceptances from 1⅞% to 1¾%. The temporary rise in call loan rates had its origin in disturbed banking conditions in the city arising out of the closing early Thursday morning, Dec. 11, of the Bank of United States, with deposits in excess of $160,000,000, and which at the date of the call of the Comptroller of the Currency on Sept. 24 stood at $202,972,469, at which time the aggregate resources of the institution were reported at $254,043,942, and by the subsequent closing (on Dec. 23) of the Chelsea Bank & Trust Co., with deposits of $12,000,000, supplemented by the failure of the Bankers' Trust Co. in Philadelphia, with aggregate resources in excess of $50,000,000, along with the failure of the Aldine Trust Co. in the same city with resources somewhat over $2,000,000, and with a fresh outcropping of bank failures all over the United States, even worse than those in the months immediately preceding, and in their general character having rarely if ever before been paralleled in the history of the country. The Bank of United States had over 400,000 depositors and had suffered serious runs at many of its branches before it was determined to close its doors, and the same was true of the Chelsea Bank & Trust Co., and likewise the Philadelphia banking institutions. And, as a matter of fact, all over the country the experience was closely similar, depositors becoming panic-stricken and clamoring for their money. This compelled all banks to fortify their holdings of cash. The "Monthly Review" of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, under date of Jan. 1 1931, in discussing this situation, said that the principal influence on the money market during the month had been a large demand for currency, due in part to the usual seasonal requirements for the holiday and in part to an unusual demand immediately preceding and following the closing of the Bank of United States. The "Review" pointed out that for a number of years past there had been no failure of any important banking institution in the New York Federal Reserve District, but that on Dec. 11 the Bank of United States in New York City had been taken over by the New York State Superintendent of Banks, at the request of the directors of the institution, after persistent and vigorous efforts of the State Superintendent and other bankers had not succeeded in discovering any practicable plan by which the bank might properly be kept open.

The Federal Reserve "Review" then proceeds to say that the closing of this large bank was followed by considerable withdrawals of deposits from several other banks doing business with a somewhat similar type of customers in the same general localities. There were indications, it is added, that these withdrawals of deposits were accentuated by the deliberate circulation of false and malicious rumors. These banks called upon the Reserve Bank for large amounts of currency. Other banks drew more than the usual amounts of currency to be prepared in the event of any possible exceptional withdrawals. It is averred that large demands for currency from this cause came at a time of normal increase in currency requirements for the holiday trade. As a result a net amount of over $170,000,000 of currency was drawn from the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in the week ended Dec. 13. It is pointed out, furthermore, that the large demand for currency, due in part to some apprehension of depositors, paralleled in some respects the currency demand in 1907, which was vividly in mind when the Reserve Act was drafted. After a few days, currency withdrawals subsided to about normal for the season, and some of the currency previously withdrawn was returned to the Reserve Bank. This unusual situation, as already indicated, was by no means confined to the New York Federal Reserve District. It was common to the whole country, loss of confidence, induced by constantly recurring bank failures, being the primary reason for this. The New York Federal Reserve Bank, in adverting to this feature, notes that in the latter part of November and early in December the requirements for funds, which were largely seasonal, though increased somewhat by banking disturbances elsewhere, were met in part through member bank sales of acceptances to the Reserve Banks, and in part through a rather general increase in member bank borrowing at the Reserve Banks, not only in New York, but in other districts. Furthermore, just before Christmas the final currency requirements for the holiday were met largely, we are told, by withdrawals of funds from New York by banks in other parts of the country and by member bank borrowing from the Reserve Bank in New York.

As to the course of call loan rates on the Stock Exchange, which had remained unchanged at 2% ever since Sept. 30, loaning continued at that figure until Dec. 12, the day after the closing of the Bank of United States, when, after renewals had been effected at 2%, there was an advance to 2½% in the rate for new loans. The next day was Saturday, when call loans are never negotiated on the Stock Exchange. The following Monday, Dec. 15, and again on Tuesday, Dec. 16, all loans on the Stock Exchange, including renewals, were at 2½%. On Wednesday, Dec. 17, after renewals had again been effected at 2½%, there was a drop to 2% in the rate for new loans, and thereafter the rate was 2% each day, both for renewals and for new loans, until Friday, Dec. 26, when after renewals had again been put through at 2%, there was an advance in the rate for new loans to 2½%. The following Monday, Dec. 29, after renewals had been arranged at 2½%, the rate for new loans rose by successive advances of ½% to 4%. This was on very extensive calling of loans, it being estimated that loans to an aggregate of $100,000,000 had been called. The 4% rate was the highest figure reached since the previous May 1. On Tuesday, Dec. 30, $30,000,000 more was called, but all loans on that day were at 3½%, while on Wednesday, Dec. 31, after renewals had been arranged at 3½%, the rate for new loans dropped to 3%. Money was in good supply, with the demand only fair, and there was an overflow into the outside market, where loans on that day were negotiated at 2½%. After the New Year's holiday the Stock Exchange call loan rate actually fell to 1½%. It remains to be said that in the early part of the month, when the Stock Exchange rate was 2%, accommodation was most of the time obtainable in the outside market at 1½%, and when the ruling rate on the Stock Exchange rose to 2½%, outside loans were usually obtainable at a concession of ½ of 1%. Stock Exchange borrowing, as a matter of fact, kept steadily contracting, the total of brokers' loans, according to the weekly statement of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, dropping lower and still lower with each succeeding week, and on Dec. 24 being down to only $1,920,000,000 after 13 successive weeks of decreases, and on Dec. 31 being only a little higher at $1,926,000,000 as against $3,222,000,000 on Sept. 24. The rise in the call loan rate at the close of December was of course due mainly to the usual preparations for the year-end settlements and the heavy 1st of January interest and dividend disbursements.

Time loans were in poor demand all through the month, the reason being that borrowing at easier rates could be done in other branches of the money market. Quotations, however, which in the circumstances were largely nominal, were marked fractionally higher the latter part of the month for the shorter maturities. On Tuesday, Dec. 16, the rate for 30-day loans was moved up from 1¾@2% to 2@2¼%; the rate for 60-day and 90-day loans from 2@2¼% to 2¼@2½%; the rate for four months' loans from 2¼@2½% to 2½%. On Monday, Dec. 29, quotations for the last mentioned period were raised to 2½@2¾%, while the rates for loans running for five months and for six months were advanced from 2½@2¾% to 2½@3%. Inquiry for prime commercial paper in the open market continued good throughout the month, with the supply at all times insufficient to meet the investment demand, though this demand slackened considerably the latter part of the month when the banks, owing to the disturbed banking condition referred to above, were engaged in strengthening their cash position. Only the best of paper was in demand, and a shortage of paper was especially noticeable in the closing days of the month, when commercial establishments have their year-end statements in mind and naturally desire to show as little indebtedness as possible. Rates remained unchanged, choice names of four to six months' maturity being quoted at 2¾@3%, while names less well known were offered at 3¼@3½%. From the monthly reports obtained by the New York Federal Reserve Bank from leading dealers in paper, it appeared that the total outstandings of paper on Nov. 29 were $448,000,000, an amount 8% lower than at the end of October and 19% under the peak reached the previous April. The November total, nevertheless, was $133,000,000, or 42% above the outstandings at the end of November 1929. As to the rates charged by the banks for loans over the counter to commercial customers, it appears that the average rate was slightly higher at the middle of December than at the middle of November, averaging 3.75% as against 3.73%; at the middle of December 1929, however, the average was 5.57%.

Prime bankers' acceptances appeared in lessened demand during December. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York reports that the supply of bills offered to the market continued to some extent to be restricted by banks withholding new bills in their own portfolios, but offerings of bills to the discount market somewhat exceeded the investment demand, a considerable part of which represented orders for foreign account. The result was that a substantial volume of bills was offered to the Federal Reserve Banks as indicated by the fact that the total bill holdings of the 12 Reserve institutions increased from $176,106,000 Nov. 26 to $363,844,000 Dec. 31. During the same period the total of bills held by the Reserve Banks for foreign correspondents rose from $428,938,000 to $439,288,000. Notwithstanding these increases in the Federal Reserve bill holdings the portfolios of the bill dealers, it is declared, also increased somewhat during the month. It is remarked, however, that they remained comparatively small for the time of the year. The monthly statement of the American Acceptance Council, made public on Dec. 17, showed that on Nov. 29 the volume of acceptances outstanding was $63,173,948 higher than on Oct. 31, and that the total at $1,571,417,674 was within $86,482,250 of the high figure shown at the end of November 1929. Robert H. Bean, Executive Secretary of the Council, pointed out that this reduction from the previous year's figures of only a little over 5% actually indicated a greater use of acceptance credits, inasmuch as the shrinkage in the wholesale prices of commodities usually financed by acceptances, placed at 15% for the year, would on an equal volume leave the current total of bills at only about $1,410,000,000. He also stated that with only one month to go before the year's record was revealed, it was certain that acceptance credits had financed over $1,000,000,000 more business here and abroad than in the year 1929. At the time of the closing of the Bank of United States the acceptance market was somewhat perturbed by news that this bank had some acceptances outstanding. No change occurred during the month in the market rates for acceptances, though a reduction of ⅛% all around was made Jan. 2, the first business day of the new year. Some demoralization in rates occurred at the opening of the market on Wednesday morning, Dec. 24, following the announcement late in the evening of the previous day that the New York Federal Reserve Bank had reduced its rediscount rate from 2½% to 2%, and had at the same time reduced its buying rate for acceptances from 1⅞% on bills running from 1 to 75 days to 1¾%. Some of the dealers then marked their rates down fractionally, but that proved temporary, the larger dealers refusing to make any change, and by the end of the day all dealers were again quoting the former rates unchanged.

As already noted, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York quite unexpectedly late in the evening of Tuesday, Dec. 23 (the usual weekly meeting day of the directors of the Bank being Thursday, but this the present time being Christmas Day) marked down its rate of rediscount on all classes of bills from 2½% to 2%, effective the next day, thereby establishing a new low record in the history of the Reserve Banking system. We say "new" low record, inasmuch as the 2½% rate was itself a low record prior to the cut to 2%. This 2% rate also was lower than the rate at the time at any central bank anywhere in Europe. The next lowest rates were the 2½% rate quoted by the Banks of France, Switzerland, and Belgium, and the 3% rate by the Banks of England and Holland. Following the action of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, on Dec. 27, announced a reduction from 3½% to 3%, effective Dec. 29, and on Dec. 31 the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston was authorized by the Federal Reserve Board to lower its rediscount rate from 3% to 2½%, effective on Jan. 2 1931. This left four rate levels in the system, namely 2% at New York, 2½% at Boston, 3% at Cleveland, and 3½% at the nine other Reserve Banks.

THE RETURNS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE AND MEMBER BANKS BROKERS' LOANS.

As to brokers' loans for the month of December, all that it is necessary to say is that the volume of these loans kept steadily shrinking, week by week, the same as it had during the whole of November and October, making a record of continuous contraction for 13 successive weeks. In the week ending Dec. 3 the decrease was $11,000,000; in the week ending Dec. 10, $12,000,000; in the week ending Dec. 17, $91,000,000, and in the week ending Dec. 24, $88,000,000, while in the week ending Dec. 31 there was an increase, but hardly more than nominal, namely, $6,000,000. It is proper to say that as to the reduction in the week ending Dec. 17 that was the week when the Bank of United States closed its doors, eliminating that institution from the weekly return of the Federal Reserve Bank. In part at least, and perhaps in more than the full amount, the reduction in the loans in that week must have been due to the omission of that bank from the member bank statement. Just how much of brokers' loans this closed institution had outstanding at the time of the previous week's statement is not known, but the Federal Reserve "Review" points out that the bank in its last return showed loans and investments of about $190,000,000—obviously a large amount. At all events, however, the total of these brokers' loans in the Federal Reserve statement for Dec. 31 was only $1,926,000,000 as against $2,122,000,000 Nov. 26 and $3,222,000,000 on Sept. 24. The further decrease during December in these loans on securities by the reporting member banks in New York City extended to loaning under all the different categories, the loans for own account having decreased from $1,288,000,000 Nov. 26 to $1,262,000,000 Dec. 24, though from this there was an increase to $1,321,000,000 Dec. 31; the loans for account of out-of-town banks dropped during the same five weeks from $380,000,000 to $235,000,000, and the loans "for account of others" from $455,000,000 to $370,000,000.

The Stock Exchange statement for the even month of December of course also showed further contraction. The decrease in Stock Exchange borrowing for the month, according to these figures, was $268,636,112, and this followed $393,875,085 reduction in November, $925,328,674 in October, $117,180,308 in September, $90,849,228 in August, $28,228,992 in July, $1,020,120,623 in June, and $315,299,447 in May, making the total contraction for the eight months $3,169,518,469, and leaving the amount Dec. 31 only $1,893,612,890 against $5,063,131,359 April 30.

In the operations of the Federal Reserve Banks during December as distinct from the activities of the member banks (which latter are responsible for the brokers' loans) the feature during December was the great increase in the amount of the Reserve credit outstanding. The member banks as a result of the disturbed banking conditions increased their borrowings at the Reserve institutions and these latter at the same time through their open market operations further added to the amount of Reserve credit outstanding. All this was done, of course, by extending the volume of Federal Reserve notes outstanding and the aggregate of these notes in circulation was reported at $1,721,897,000 Dec. 24, but with a decrease to $1,663,538,000 Dec. 31 as against $1,421,868,000 Nov. 26 and $1,383,604,000 Nov. 19. Taking the total of the bill and security holdings of the 12 Reserve institutions as the measure of the amount of Reserve credit afloat, it is found that this total Dec. 24 was $1,356,395,000 and $1,351,852,000 Dec. 31 as against $1,011,940,000 Nov. 26 and $985,380,000 Nov. 19. The holdings of United States Government securities were up to $720,467,000 Dec. 31 compared with $595,634,000 Nov. 26; the holdings of bank acceptances purchased in the open market, $363,844,000 Dec. 31 against $176,106,000 Nov. 26, while the holdings of discounts (representing direct borrowing by the member banks) were $448,349,000 Dec. 24, but $251,398,000 Dec. 31 against $233,852,000 Nov. 26 and $265,037,000 Nov. 19. While a considerable portion of the increased borrowing by member banks occurred here at New York, it was large also outside of New York. This is evident from the fact that the discount holdings of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York were $141,486,000 Dec. 24 as against $31,546,000 Nov. 19, and the discounts of the 11 remaining Reserve Banks $306,863,000 Dec. 24 as against only $173,491,000 Nov. 19. In the contraction in borrowing which came the last week of the month the discounts of the New York Reserve Bank dropped from $141,486,000 to $61,898,000, and the discounts of the remaining 11 Reserve Banks from $306,863,000 to $269,423,000.

COURSE OF STERLING EXCHANGE DURING DECEMBER.

Repeating past experience, sterling exchange during December showed growing firmness during the month, and rates of sterling bills on London displayed a rising tendency, though only moderately so on the present occasion. This continued up until Christmas, after which rates tapered off somewhat. Cable transfers on London as against 4.85 15/32 Dec. 1 sold at 4.85⅞ on Dec. 26, and after selling as high as that on each day thereafter up to and including Dec. 29, reacted, and on Dec. 31 covered a range of 4.85 17/32@ 4.85 11/16. The firmness in sterling, which also led to growing firmness of the New York rate on all the other major European countries, was generally attributed to withdrawals of funds from this side in preparation for the customary year-end requirements. Similar withdrawing operations from London by the Continental cities of Europe resulted in a weakening in the tone of sterling with respect to other European currencies and sterling exchange was especially easy in terms of German marks, French francs, Dutch guilders and Swiss francs. It is customary for sterling exchange and other European currencies to become strong in the last month of the year, as a temporary matter, despite the seasonal pressure, owing to seasonal transfers of funds from this country in preparation for year-end settlements. Christmas gifts by people in this country to relatives and friends in Europe are another factor in strengthening foreign exchange rates here in the closing month of the year.

The outstanding event, of course, bearing upon the foreign exchange market during the month was the lowering of the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York from 2½% to 2%, which became effective Dec. 24, and increased the margin of money rates in favor of London (the Bank of England rate remaining at 3%) from ½ of 1% to a full 1%, but this had only a slight, if any, effect in the further fractional rise in sterling exchange, which continued in progress, as already stated, up until a day or two after Christmas. In banking circles the special strength which sterling exchange manifested on Dec. 24, the day before Christmas, was attributed more to final preparations for year-end settlements than to any other cause, and as far as could be seen sterling rates were influenced very little by the reduction in the New York Federal Reserve Bank's rate of rediscount. London had to contend all through the month with heavy further gold takings on French account, and quite a little gold also was taken on German account, sterling having been, as already indicated, especially weak with reference to both the French franc and the German mark, and in a lesser degree also with reference to the Dutch guilder and the Swiss franc. Some of the weakness of sterling in terms of marks was explained by the fact that London together with New York kept replacing the short-term credits which Paris had withdrawn from Berlin when the result of the German elections in September first became known. The success which Chancellor Bruening subsequently achieved in his dealings with the German Parliament stimulated the flow of American and London funds once more in the direction of the German market. In certain quarters it is thought that the buying of sterling bills by the New York Federal Reserve Bank played some part in stiffening sterling exchange. Published statistics seemed to support this conclusion. These statistics showed that the Federal Reserve Banks on Nov. 30 held $31,587,000 of bills payable in foreign currencies, and that this represented an increase of $30,512,000 in two months.

The Bank of England kept losing gold week after week throughout the month. In the week ending Dec. 3 it lost £1,942,393; in the week ending Dec. 10, £3,182,018; in the week ending Dec. 17, £1,132,549; in the week ending Dec. 24, £2,494,795, and in the week ending Dec. 31, £550,061. The result was to bring the total gold holdings of the Bank below the £150,000,000 Cunliffe minimum for the first time since Jan. 9 1930; on Dec. 24 the coin and bullion holdings of the Bank were down to £148,821,432, and on Dec. 31 were still lower at £148,271,371, this last, however, comparing with £146,115,746 on Dec. 31 1929. According to the "Monthly Review" of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, France drew over £7,400,000 gold from the Bank of England during the month, and in addition took the bulk of the South African gold offered in the London market, amounting to £3,800,000. Germany also appeared as a buyer of gold, taking £1,800,000. These losses were offset in part, as far as the Bank of England is concerned, by the reported receipt of sovereigns by the Bank of England, of which £1,000,000 came from South Africa and £920,000 from Brazil.

As to gold arrivals and gold shipments at and from the United States the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reports the receipt of $22,000,000 of the metal during the month from Canada, "reversing the movement begun last July during which $36,500,000 was exported to that country. This was the first material import movement from Canada since March 1929." Canadian exchange changed from a premium to a discount on Dec. 12, and continued around the gold import point to the United States during the rest of the month. In addition to the gold imports of $22,000,000 from Canada during December, $4,900,000 was received from Argentina, $1,650,000 from Cuba, and $975,000 from Colombia. Exports, the Federal Reserve report says, were negligible, but there was a loss to the country's gold stock through an increase of gold held under ear-mark for foreign account amounting to $15,500,000. A preliminary estimate, it is stated, indicates a net gain of about $15,000,000 of gold to the United States during December and a net gain for the year of about $275,000,000.

THE CONTINENTAL AND OTHER FOREIGN EXCHANGES.

Exchange on the Continental centers of Europe, like sterling exchange, developed growing firmness, and for much the same reason, namely, the withdrawal of foreign funds in this country in preparation for the year-end settlements and also transfers from this side to the other side by those making Christmas gifts to relatives and friends in Europe, but with some downward reaction in the last two or three days of December after the completion of the operations referred to. The Bank of France, of course, kept steadily enlarging its gold holdings as a result of the recalling home of French balances abroad, and in particular to heavy gold takings in London. In the week ended Dec. 6 the return of the Bank revealed a gain in gold of 385,065,739 francs; in the week ending Dec. 13 a gain of 548,479,547 francs; in the week ending Dec. 20 of 383,000,000 francs, and in the week ending Dec. 27 of 294,148,937 francs. The Bank of France did not during December follow the course of the New York Federal Reserve Bank and reduce its discount rate, but did make a reduction on Jan. 2 1931. Cable transfers on Paris moved up from 3.92⅞c. Dec. 1 to 3.93⅛c. Dec. 27, and then fell off to 3.92¾c. Dec. 31. However, fluctuations in the French franc are of minor importance as owing to the strong position of the Bank of France, with large holdings of gold and of foreign exchange, the rate is easily maintained by the Bank of France at any desired point. Reference has been made above in our remarks concerning the course of sterling exchange to the large gold takings of Paris in London, £7,400,000 of the metal having been taken during the month directly from the Bank of England, besides which France took the bulk of the South African gold offered in the London market, amounting to £3,800,000. The Bank of France apparently sought to check the inflow of the metal into France by one device or another, but was able to accomplish little along those lines, and its foreign balances abroad kept increasing despite the large importations of the metal. The importations were made, not by the Bank of France, but by the French private banks who then took the gold to the Bank of France, which, under French law, is obliged to receive the gold and to issue Bank of France notes in payment for it. It is stated that some of the recent withdrawals by French banks have been for the account of banks in Bordeaux where four brokerage houses failed a short time ago. The fact is that the entire French community of late has remained under the cloud of anxiety occasioned by the recent Oustric failure, the collapse of the Bank Adam, and the difficulties of some of the French provincial banks. Deposit withdrawals have been large at all French banks, hence the heavy gold takings from London by the private banks in order to strengthen their position and allay public anxiety. While, as already stated, the Bank of France apparently is discountenancing the gold movement, it claims to be powerless to prevent it, and it is compelled to take the gold offered by the private institutions. It is also asserted that the French people have been hoarding bank notes, being doubtful about the banking situation, the political outlook, and foreign policies. Of course, also, the large German reparations payments, which France is steadily receiving, are an ever-present influence in favor of French exchange. The Bank of France note circulation increased 1,802,000,000 francs in the week ending Nov. 29, but showed 112,000,000 decrease in the week ending Dec. 6; 540,000,000 francs decrease for the week ending Dec. 13, but reported an increase again of 71,000,000 francs in the week ending Dec. 20, and an increase of 1,067,000,000 francs in the week ending Dec. 27.

The German mark fluctuated considerably, but after moving higher the early part of December, showed a sharp downward reaction the last 10 days of the month. Cable transfers on Berlin as against 23.83c. on Dec. 1 sold up to 23.86½c. on Dec. 10, and again 23.86 on Dec. 18, but on Dec. 30 sold as low as 23.81¾, with the range Dec. 31 23.81⅞@ 23.82¼. The improvement in the German political situation played an important part in the further recovery of German exchange during the first three weeks of the month. Chancellor Bruening met with great success in dealing with the German Parliament. On Dec. 6 the Reichstag, by a vote of 292 to 254, refused to dissolve President Von Hindenburg's decree of Dec. 1 for the enforcement of the Government's fiscal and economic measures under the emergency provisions of Article 48 of the German Constitution, thereby accepting without alteration Chancellor Bruening's comprehensive program for salvaging the Reich finances. Another favorable development in the German situation was the adjournment of the Reichstag on Dec. 12 until Feb. 3, giving Chancellor Bruening a chance to carry out his measures of financial reform unhindered by lengthy debates and delays by extremist members of the Reichstag. All this led to considerable investment of short-term funds in Berlin by New York banks. The weakness in the mark the latter part of the month appears to have been due in considerable part to temporary withdrawals of foreign funds from the German market. The Bank of Germany showed an increase in gold holdings the first quarter of the month of 10,285,000 marks, and of 25,425,000 marks in the second quarter, with a trivial loss (105,000 marks) in the third quarter, and 184,000 marks increase the final quarter of the month. The note circulation of the Bank showed a contraction of 161,681,000 marks in the first quarter and 183,524,000 marks the second quarter, but 19,247,000 marks increase in the third quarter, and 502,947,000 marks increase in the last quarter.

The Italian lire moved moderately lower, and cable transfers on Rome as against 5.23½@5.24⅝ on Dec. 1 sold at 5.23½@5.23 11-16 Dec. 31. The lira was weaker, largely, it was thought, because of the Italian budget deficit. The Italian Government ordered sweeping cuts in the salaries of all State and municipal employees, civil and military. The cuts were expected to bring a saving to the Treasury in a full year of approximately 700,000,000 lire. A reduction of 8% was also ordered in industrial wages, which, it was believed, would result in an annual saving to industry of 1,000,000,000 lire. Negotiations also proceeded for a corresponding reduction in agricultural wages. Pressure, it was stated, would be exerted later on in intermediary trades and finally on the retailers. The Government took its stand on the necessity of readjusting prices to the level of the established lire. During the discussion of the bill for reducing by 12% the salaries of all State employees, Premier Mussolini ascribed all of Italy's financial troubles to the panic in the New York stock market, and made sarcastic references to the claims of enduring prosperity that had been set up on behalf of the United States, only to be now followed by utter collapse in the industrial world as well as in the stock market.

In the exchanges on the countries neutral during the war there was growing firmness during the greater part of the month, which was attributed largely to seasonal movements in connection with year-end settlements and to immigrant remittances and to Christmas gift transfers. A sharp reaction followed in the closing days of the month on the completion of these operations. Swiss francs and Holland guilders were especially strong. Cable transfers on Amsterdam as against 40.23@40.24 Dec.1 sold up to 40.30¼@40.40½ Dec. 26, and ranged from 40.26¾ to 40.27 Dec. 31. Swiss francs on cable transfers moved up from 19.37@19.37½ Dec. 1 to 19.42½@19.43 Dec. 24, and were 19.38⅞@19.39¼ Dec. 31. The fluctuations in Swiss exchange were probably due in some measure to operations in connection with the Bank for International Settlements. The Scandinavian exchanges moved upward with a slight reaction in the final days of the month, except in the case of exchange on Sweden, which was weak most of the time and suffered a sharp decline at the close of the month, cable transfers on Sweden selling down to 26.79½ Dec. 31 as against 26.84 on Dec. 1. The Danish crown was quoted at 26.74 Dec. 31 against 26.74@26.74½ Dec. 1, after having sold as high at 26.76 on Dec. 11. The Norwegian crown sold up from 26.73½ Dec. 1 to 26.75¾ Dec. 10, but was 26.73½@26.74½ Dec. 31. Spanish pesetas fluctuated widely, but on the whole suffered a renewed sharp decline, notwithstanding vigorous suppression of a military uprising the early part of the month. Cable transfers on Spain sold down from 11.27 Dec. 1 to 10.02 Dec. 15, and then, after fluctuating widely, sold at 10.50@10.53 Dec. 31. On Dec. 19 the Spanish Supreme Banking Council voted in favor of gold shipments to London up to £10,000,000. The shipments, however, are understood really to have been consigned to the Bank for International Settlements, which is thought to be merely utilizing the Bank of England's vaults to store the gold safely.

Rates on the South American centers continued to move lower notwithstanding, in the case of Argentina and Brazil, large gold shipments to New York and London. The reason seemed to be that trade balances are running sharply against South American countries on account of the low values ruling for their leading products. The milreis on Brazil in the case of cable transfers was down to 9.65@9.75 Dec. 31 against 10.00@10⅛ Dec. 1, and the peso on Argentina for cable transfers was 31.50@32.00 Dec. 31 against 34.40@34½ Dec. 1. The Uruguyan peso suffered even worse, checks on that country falling from 79@79.37 Dec. 1 to 71.17@72¾ Dec. 31. The Argentine Government made arrangements with Baring Bros. of London to repay the £5,000,000 12 months' credit which matured Dec. 31 by securing fresh advances. Two credits were arranged each for £2,500,000, one for six months and the other for 12 months. Repayment of the loan in this manner, it was stated, made possible the placing of £5,000,000 in London at the disposal of the Banco de la Nacion to be used for the support of the peso exchange. A new measure designed to lend support to the Argentine peso, pending the reopening of the Caja de Conversion, was also made effective by governmental decree. The operation of the Argentine Government will involve, it is stated, the disposal of gold held in London through sales of foreign bills, thus lending support to the peso. The proceeds of these sales will be paid into the Caja de Conversion and the equivalent in gold returned to the Banco de la Nacion for deposit in the vaults of the bank as a conversion fund, which the bank is required by law to keep on deposit. This fund of 30,000,000 pesos was withdrawn from the bank last year and paid into the Conversion Office to issue notes. In order to do this the Government obtained a credit from Baring Bros. of £5,000,000, which was utilized as a conversion fund for the bank but remained in London.

Exchange on the Far East was dull and, with the exception of the Japanese yen, suffered a sharp decline as the result of another severe drop in silver. The price of silver in London as against 16 5/16d. per ounce at the end of November was down to 14 7/16d. Dec. 31, establishing another new all-time low record in the world's history. The Chinese exchanges moved down in sympathy with the decline in silver, the tael on Shanghai for checks being 34¼@34 7/16 Dec. 31 against 37¾@38 1/16 on Dec. 1, and the Hongkong dollar for checks being 26⅝@27 1/16 Dec. 31 against 30½@30 11/16 Dec. 1. The renewed weakness in silver was ascribed largely to the knowledge of the imposition of higher import tariffs in China. Anticipating a rush of imports before the new tariff went into effect, Shanghai bear operators sold the metal. Notice of the new tariff rates was not expected until after the turn of the year, but on Monday, Dec. 29, the Chinese Government announced the new schedule to take effect on Jan. 1. The silver market, it was stated, construed the step as an ultimate bullish factor for silver, but is uncertain regarding the immediate effects. The Japanese yen, being a gold unit, was not adversely affected, checks on Yokohama selling Dec. 31 at 49.55@49⅞ against 49.60@49⅞ Dec. 1. Rupees on Bombay were likewise unaffected, being quoted at 36.00@36.¼ Dec. 31 against 35.95@36¼ Dec. 1.

The tables on pages 16 to 38 furnish a complete record of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange during December and range for year 1930. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. A few other bonds, like the Holland-American Line 6s, for special reasons, are also quoted "flat," but where this is the case the quotation "flat" will be found against the name of the issue. This method of quoting bonds became effective Jan. 2 1909.

For footnotes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.

General Quotations

OF BONDS AND STOCKS

In the earlier part of this publication complete records of the dealings on the leading stock exchanges of the country, for the latest month and for the calendar year to date, are furnished. In this department of General Quotations we combine in one comprehensive whole, securities of all classes and descriptions, not only those dealt in on the exchanges but also leading unlisted and inactive securities. The following is an index to the different classes of securities quoted:

Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

Quotations for guaranteed stocks are "and dividend"; that is, the accrued dividend must be paid in addition to the price. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "gu" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated "conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities

Under the heading "Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities" we include all issues which do not appear under the previous two headings, namely "Railroads (Steam)" and "Public Utilities." In the case of stocks, however, we put "Textile Manufacturing," "Insurance," "Mining," "Real Estate and Land," "Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Companies" under separate heads, then follow with the rest of the "Industrial and Miscellaneous."

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds

United States and Municipal Bonds

In reporting below prices for State and municipal securities, we give bid and asked quotations wherever they can be obtained. The custom however, is to quote municipal securities on the basis of the return they yield per annum. Therefore in most cases it will be found that instead of actual prices we have inserted in the column headed "To Net" certain figures to indicate the interest rate at which business in the bonds is being done. Thus 4.35% means that the particular security can be bought or sold at a price that will yield the purchaser or seller 4.35% per annum to the maturity of the issue. Where two figures appear, as for instance "4.25% to 4.35%," the rate of return varies according to the maturity—the shorter maturities yielding the lowest rate, and the longer maturities yielding the highest return. Recently however, owing to the tension in the money market, it has happened in not a few instances that the shorter maturities have been yielding the highest rate of return and the longer maturities the lowest rate of return, and where that happens to be the case, the range has been reversed to read, say 4.35% to 4.25%.

In State and municipal bonds the custom has always been to quote them "and interest." That is, the accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

Banks & Trust Companies

STATE AND NATIONAL BANK STATEMENTS

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of Canadian Institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.

REVIEW OF JANUARY—COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL EVENTS.

Somewhat greater activity developed in most lines of rade during the opening month of the new year, but this as in comparison mainly with the almost complete stoppage hich marked the course of business during the month of ecember, when the customary holiday period was more ronounced and more prolonged than usual. Moreover, the reater activity which now developed appeared to be largely easonal, it being customary in many branches of industry o start up with new energy with the beginning of the new ear (after the taking of the customary inventories at the lose of the old year), and on the present occasion it was eally a question whether this seasonal increase in activity as on so great a scale as in other years. The disposition ertainly was to look upon ultimate recovery with greater onfidence, but at the same time to proceed with due caution, ince expectations of near recovery had been disappointed o often during the preceding 15 months.

James A. Farrell, President of the United States Steel Corp., had no hesitation, when speaking before a joint session of the National Canners' Association and the National Wholesale Grocers' Association, in convention at Chicago, on Jan. 19, in expressing the opinion that "the low point of the depression was past 30 days ago." And certainly, as far as the steel trade was concerned, this was not a venturesome assertion, inasmuch as steel production in December had dropped to an exceedingly low level. In the week ending Monday, Dec. 29, as stated in our review for that month, the steel mills of the country were engaged to only 24% of capacity. This, to be sure, included the Christmas holiday, but even in the week preceding the mills were operating to only 34% of capacity, and two weeks before were engaged to no higher than 37% of capacity. On the other hand, during January there was a steady increase in operations week by week, and in the week ended Monday, Feb. 2, the average for the whole industry was estimated at around 47% of capacity, with the United States Steel Corp. engaged to about 51% of capacity as against approximately only 30% in the week ended Dec. 29. At the close of January 1930 the steel industry was operating at about 80% of capacity, and at the close of January 1929 the steel mills of the country were engaged to nearly 85% of capacity. Mr. Farrell predicted a steady improvement in conditions from now on, saying that "while certain groups believe that our recovery will be retarded until certain fundamental factors in the world situation are corrected there is a larger element who believe that if we will concentrate our activities on the United States and its problems for the time being that business in the United States, with all of its potential possibilities, will speed recovery and enlarge opportunity for employment." Mr. Farrell condemned in unqualified terms as "futile" and "dangerous" suggestions looking for the improvement of business conditions through wage cuts, reductions of the tariff or remission of foreign debts to the United States. On the wage question, however, prevailing sentiment as to maintaining the existing level of wages unaltered at a time when wholesale and retail commodity prices were sharply declining and the buying power of a given rate of wages was accordingly increasing, with the necessary result of reducing the cost of living, was not entirely in accord with the views expressed by Mr. Farrell. The general opinion among those competent to form a trustworthy judgment, by reason of their knowledge and experience, and who had been making a close study of the subject, was that when stockholders and private proprietors were obliged, owing to the depression and the downward course of prices, to forego the whole or the greater part of their profits, wage earners could not escape making some concessions themselves, and it would not be more than an act of fairness and justice for the laboring classes to agree to make such concessions to the extent, at least, that would serve to put the wheels of industry in motion once more and gradually accelerate the pace until full recovery had again been established. The Steel Corp. itself could hardly be said (as appeared from the corporation's statement for the last quarter of the year 1930, made public after the close of business on Tuesday, Jan. 27) to be faring as well as it should when, notwithstanding its wonderful up-to-date facilities of production at a minimum of cost and its superb and justly esteemed management, it was able to show only 27c. a share earned on its common stock for the December quarter of 1930 as against $4.14 per share earned in the December quarter of 1929.

As it happened, some very prominent executives in the banking and industrial world, noted for their broad consideration of public questions, in discussing the same subject, expressed views sharply in conflict with those of Mr. Farrell. Thus Albert H. Wiggin, the Chairman of the Governing Board of the Chase National Bank of this city, in his report to the shareholders of that institution, in discussing the wage question, along with many other topics of the day, did not hesitate to say: "It is not true that high wages make prosperity. Instead, prosperity makes high wages. When wages are kept higher than the market situation justifies, employment and the buying power of labor fall off. American business has proved its good will in dealing with labor on this point in the past year, and in many industries may reasonably ask labor to accept a moderate reduction of wages designed to reduce costs and to increase both employment and the buying power of labor. Our restricted immigration, coupled with our relative abundance of capital and natural resources, is sufficient safeguard for American wages."

In the same vein, Melvin A. Traylor, President of the First National Bank of Chicago, who has been so prominently identified with the Bank for International Settlements, in an address delivered at Dallas, Tex., before the Salesmanship Club of Dallas, made some pertinent discussions bearing on the question of wages, though that was not the main theme of his address. The paragraph dealing with the matter deserves to be reproduced, and we quote it herewith:

"If there is one point upon which all agree, it is that the American standard of living must be maintained. However, we must not confuse the standard of living with the cost of living, and we must not confuse an arbitrary fixed wage in dollars and cents with a real wage in its purchasing power. Employers must be as quick to recognize the real wage in a rising market as labor must be to recognize the real wage in a falling market, if there is to be any stability in prosperity and employment hereafter. Business cannot prosper if costs eliminate profit; and labor cannot work as fully as it should if capital is denied a proper return."

Returning to a consideration of the trade currents, a great variety of statistics testify to the fact that if trade activity did increase somewhat in January, this, while satisfactory, as far as it went, was not, after all, much to boast of, since still leaving the volume of trade far below that for the same month in the years immediately preceding. The statistics showing the loading of revenue freight on the railroads of the United States must be accepted as conclusive on that point. From the statistics compiled by the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association it appears that the loading of revenue freight on the railroads of the United States for the four weeks ending Jan. 24 totaled only 2,771,261 cars in 1931 against 3,347,717 cars in the corresponding four weeks of 1930, 3,571,455 cars in the same weeks of 1929, and 3,448,895 cars in the same weeks of 1928. It will be observed that the loss, as compared with two years ago, has been no less than 800,194 cars. However, no one expected anything more than a slow change for the better. The Guaranty Survey, published by the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, may be said to have summed up the situation accurately when, in its issue published Jan. 26, it stated that "the rather encouraging way in which the basic industries have responded to the seasonal influences making for revival has been the outstanding business development during the opening weeks of the new year. From numerous branches of manufacturing and from various sections of the country have come reports of increasing output and rising employment. . . . On the whole, therefore, the situation is unquestionably better than it was a month ago." Nevertheless, the writer of the "Survey" deems it wise to add the following words of caution:

"It would be a mistake, however, to rush to the conclusion that business has definitely 'turned the corner'—that the factors which caused recession to continue unbroken until almost the very end of 1930 have, with the turn of the year, been abruptly transferred into favorable influences. Although it appears, at the moment, that the increase in industrial activity has been greater than is usual at this time of year, it remains true that the expansion is mainly seasonal in its nature.

"As a matter of fact, it is not yet possible to judge whether the upturn has any permanent significance or not. In the absence of more conclusive signs of recovery than have yet appeared, it may be well to recall the false hopes that were engendered by the even sharper upturn a year ago. Business men in general have become aware that recovery must be a slow and gradual process, and that, to the extent that it is slow and gradual, the foundations for future prosperity will be the more securely laid. To abandon this view merely because of the unexpectedly favorable developments of a week or month would be a fundamental error.

"But with full allowance for the fact that a few weeks of rising activity at the beginning of the year do not necessarily spell recovery, it is impossible to escape the feeling that the recent expansion may be a sign of the approach of better times. Business has passed through a long period of readjustment. Both materially and psychologically the deflation seems to have been very thorough. In December and January, two conditions have appeared that throw a favorable light on the position of consumers—namely, the relatively small decrease in holiday buying and the hearty response of the public to the annual automobile shows.

"Whatever encouragement may be derived from these considerations can find some support in the greater stability recently apparent in commodity prices. The monthly index of wholesale prices of the Guaranty Trust Co. for Jan. 15 stands at 55.5, as against 56.6 a month earlier. This slight decline is due mainly to the movement of prices during the last half of December. Since the beginning of January there has been little or no downward trend. As far as its bearing on the probable future course of business is concerned, this strengthening in prices is much more convincing in its favorable implications than is the expansion reported in industrial output during the same period."

A highly disturbing development occurred the latter part of the month, a development calculated, if it should eventuate as feared, seriously to delay, if not absolutely to destroy, the chances of an early recovery in trade. This was the sudden prominence assumed by the proposal which was being given consideration in Congress to redeem in c at their face value the adjusted service certificates h by the World War veterans and which would involve issuance of new United States bonds to an aggregate $3,400,000,000. The proposition had been broached a n ber of times in the past, but did not then appear to h even a remote chance of meeting with Congressional proval, so chimerical did it seem and so perfectly reck from every standpoint. Now, however, the proposal be to command growing support and energetic efforts w made to get the measure through Congress. Before Senate Finance Committee, at Washington, on Jan. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon expressed his opposi to the proposal for the immediate payment of cash to W War veterans on adjusted service certificates. Mr. Me stated that the proposed measures now before the Com tee would cost approximately $3,400,000,000, and he decla that the Treasury Department could not sell bonds to amount "at the present time except on terms which it w be very hard to justify and without complete disorganiza of the Government and other security markets, with most serious consequences, not only to the public credit, to our entire economic structure." Mr. Mellon added "coming at this time such action would seriously retar business recovery, and so prolong unemployment." Ear in the month Secretary Mellon had voiced his objectio the plan of Representative Garner of Texas, Democr floor leader, for the immediate payment to war veteran the cash surrender value of their certificates. Mr. Mell views at that time were contained in a letter to Chair Hawley of the House Ways and Means Committee. In statement to the Senate Finance Committee, on Jan. Secretary Mellon declared that "serious as would be direct consequences to the Treasury and to the public cr the indirect consequences to the country would be even r serious." "The effect of these measures," he said, "wil equivalent to a capital levy on the holders of all Un States Government securities." He further said "the r keting of these bonds at the present time would kill bond market for any other kinds of securities." "Not on said Mr. Mellon, "would it interfere with the marketin our surplus products, which under present circumsta depends in large measure on foreign financing in this c try, but it would also greatly disturb world trade and w equilibrium." At the hearing before the Senate Fin Committee, Under-Secretary of the Treasury Mills also sented his views in much the same way as Mr. Me himself.

The occasion for the sudden projection of the ma into the limelight was the action of the American Le in changing its attitude on the proposition and the i ence that this has had in inducing many members of gress to flock to its support. At the national conven of the American Legion, held in Boston last year, re tions favoring the payment in cash of the adjusted se certificates were tabled, but now members of the Nati Executive Committee of the Legion, meeting in special sion at Indianapolis, on Sunday, Jan. 25, gave unqual support to the proposition by adopting a resolution sa that "the passage of such legislation would benefit imm urably not only the veterans themselves, but the citizen of the entire country and would be an appropriate de stration of the nation to those who carried its arm 1917-1918."

These adjusted service certificates really do not ma until 1945, and obviously to put out now $3,400,000,00 new United States bonds would involve a repetition of conditions prevailing in 1917 and 1918 when the Gov ment was engaged in floating its different issues of Lib Loan bonds, and the Treasury Department would be fronted by problems in financing only second to those perienced at that time. And this would have to be don the present instance in a period of intense trade depres when the national income is at such a low ebb that yearly savings of the population (out of which the f for the absorption of the new bonds would have to co are down to a minimum.

These new United States bonds, moreover, would n sarily displace a corresponding amount of ordinary co rate bond issues, the floating of which is an indispens prerequisite to providing the new capital which is requ from year to year for the development and extension of country's industries. That is what Mr. Mellon meant when he said, as mentioned above, that "the marketing of these bonds at the present time would kill the bond market for any other kinds of securities." Hence, instead of quickening trade revival, it would really have a deadening effect by the withholding it would cause of the means for raising the new capital which is so essential for the continued growth and progress of the country. The driblets in cash which would come from the spending of the money by the millions of war veterans who would receive the money would hardly be a circumstance alongside the loss of capital involved for the progress of the country. Moreover, the chances are that a very large portion, if not the greater part of the amount involved, would be employed in frivolous expenditures which would benefit no one.

But other ill consequences would follow. These are enumerated at length in the masterful analysis of the measure which Secretary Mellon made in the statement he submitted to the Senate Finance Committee on Jan. 28. In the first place, the United States Treasury is no longer in flush condition. Business depression has left its mark on the Government exchequer just as it has on the family exchequer. Government revenues are suffering a heavy falling off. Mr. Mellon says expenditures are running considerably in excess of receipts. "We will close the year with a deficit which, based on present indications, will not be less than $375.000,000." Moreover, Mr. Mellon noted that "the additional cost due to the conversion of this debt payable 14 years in the future into an interest-bearing obligation as contemplated would be approximately $262,-000,000 a year, or an increase of $150,000,000 over the annual appropriation now being made of $112,000,000." Mr. Mellon also found that serious as would be the direct consequences to the Treasury and to the public credit, the indirect consequences to the country would be even more serious. The sale of Government securities in such volume at a much higher interest rate than the present yield, based on the price at which Government bonds are now selling, must immediately depreciate very materially the price of all existing United States bonds. The member banks of the Federal Reserve System—without considering the many State non-member banks—hold $4,000,000,000 of United States securities as a secondary reserve. "They will have to write down the value of these Government securities, which will be particularly serious in the case of many country banks." Obviously insurance companies and other large holders of Government securities will have to do the same thing.

In conclusion, Mr. Mellon summed up the features and results in the following admirable and convincing paragraphs:

"There is no economic merit in the proposal. From the point of view of stimulating business, it is a plan for unmitigated inflation, with the disastrous results of which the world is only too familiar. On the investment side it means the exhaustion of the security markets and the creation of a serious impediment to business recovery both here and abroad. To the unemployed it spells further retardation of the day when normal employment will be available.

"From the point of view of the United States Treasury it represents complete disorganization of an orderly program for the refunding and retirement of our war debt and a tremendous increase in interest charges. To the taxpayer it means the destruction of all hope of the lightening of the load of taxation for years to come and a probable increase in taxes in the very near future.

"How the veterans and their families, who, after all, are an inseparable part of the American people and whose prosperity and welfare are inextricably bound up with the prosperity and welfare of all, can hope to find relief and improvement in their condition from the universal and destructive consequences which these measures would entail is beyond comprehension."

Secretary Mellon had the previous week (Jan. 16) addressed a letter to Chairman Hawley of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives expressing his views on a somewhat similar bill which had been introduced in the House, but which would not involve quite so large an expenditure and which yet would require payments exceeding $2,100,000,000. Mr. Hawley had sent a copy of the bill to Mr. Mellon and had asked Mr. Mellon to comment thereon. Mr. Hawley made Mr. Mellon's letter of reply public soon after 500 war veterans from Maryland, Virginia, and the District of Columbia had marched down Pennsylvania Avenue (in Washington) behind a drum and bugle corps for a demonstration on the steps of the Capitol in support of half a hundred pending bills (so newspaper accounts said, Jan. 21), among them the Garner measure proposing immediate payment of cash to veterans on their adjusted service certificates. The demonstration was attended by 124 members of Congress who had signed a petition to force consideration of the Garner Bill by the House. As such legislation must originate in the House, the question of its initiation was in the hands of the Ways and Means Committee, and the disposition of it rested largely with Chairman Hawley himself.

All these moves indicated what strenuous efforts were being made to push through some measure of this kind. It was not, however, until Mr. Mellon appeared before the Senate Finance Committee on Jan. 28, together with Ogden L. Mills, Under-Secretary of the Treasury, that public interest in the matter was aroused. Immediately now its influence was felt and in a most telling manner. As the inherently dangerous character of legislation of that kind became unfolded in the discussions which it aroused, and the manifold possibilities of ill effects in so many different directions developed, the financial markets were dealt a blow which was as serious as it was unexpected. On Wednesday, Jan. 28, and Thursday, Jan. 29, furious unloading of the different outstanding issues of United States bonds by institutions and individuals occurred, as a result of which all classes of United States obligations suffered a bad break and the decline continued up to the end of the month. Previously the market value of United States obligations had shown sustained strength, even when the general bond market suffered complete collapse, as happened during the closing months of 1930. But now these United States issues suffered a most severe relapse. And the declines were not confined to mere fractions as is ordinarily the case with the course of prices for United States securities. It was immediately recognized that the consequences of the putting out of a new volume of United States bonds of any such magnitude as now threatened would be far-reaching in the extreme. As one illustration of what happened, in the Government bond market, Fourth Liberty Loan 4¼s, which had sold up from 103 19/32 on Jan. 2 to 104 4/32 Jan. 26, touched 102 24/32 Jan. 29, with the close Jan. 31 at 103. The First Liberty 3½s, which had sold up from 101 26/32 Jan. 2 to 102 9/32 Jan. 24, dropped to 100 28/32 on Jan. 31. The Treasury 4¼s, which had advanced from 112 5/32 Jan. 2 to 113 8/32 Jan. 22, dropped to 110 10/32 on Jan. 29, which was also the closing figure Jan. 31. The Treasury 4s, which had risen from 108 6/32 Jan. 2 to 109 2/32 Jan. 20, were down to 106 10/32 on Jan. 31, with the close on that day at 106 12/32. In the following we show in tabular form the depreciation which occurred in a number of the principal issues of United States bonds:

a Jan. 30.

At the same time great weakness developed in the bond market generally for corporate securities of all the various classes—railroads, public utilities and industrials. It needed no argument to prove that if marked depreciation was to take place in United States securities through flooding the country with an immense mass of new obligations, thereby increasing the income to be derived from Government securities, readjustment to a higher income yield would be inevitable in the case of all other classes of bonds. Since the middle of last December, when the collapse on the Stock Exchange reached its culmination, after bond prices had suffered declines almost as severe as stock prices, one of the most reassuring features in the general situation had been the brisk recovery which the bond market had enjoyed and the gradual stability at higher levels which bond prices were assuming. But now the prop was once more completely knocked from under the bond market.

And this obviously presented a most serious adverse feature, since it is generally acknowledged that enduring recovery in the bond market is an indispensable preliminary to improvement in the general financial situation, thereby bringing the much desired and urgently needed recovery in trade.

A particularly depressing feature was that there appeared little likelihood that Congress would heed the protests of President Hoover and his Administration. As a matter of fact, all through the month Mr. Hoover clashed with Congress on one form of legislative proposal or another. Congress seemed disposed to have its way on all the leading measures that were receiving its consideration, even though the President might deem them unsound or unsafe. This was particularly true in legislation intended to furnish relief in the drouth-stricken sections and in dealing with the unemployment situation. On. Jan. 15 the President signed the resolution appropriating money in aid of the drouth areas. In its final form the resolution for drouth relief legislation provides for an appropriation of $45,000,000 for advances to farmers in the drouth and storm areas for the purchase of seed, fertilizers, &c. The resolution as passed by the House on Jan. 5 carried this appropriation of $45,000,000. On the same day, however, the Senate amended the resolution so as to include an additional $15,000,000 to be used for food loans. Following previous unsuccessful efforts to obtain consent to send the resolution to conference, Chairman Wood of the Appropriations Committee on Jan. 10 made another attempt to obtain unanimous consent to send the House bill with the Senate amendment to conference, but Representative La Guardia (Rep.), of New York, objected, stating again that he proposed to use every parliamentary method at his disposal to prevent action until he had been assured that care would be taken of the unemployed of the cities. However, he was finally outmaneuvered, and on Jan. 13 the House sent the bill to conference by a vote of 353 to 4, defeating by 215 to 134 a motion to concur in the Senate's $15,000,000 proposal. The conferees, however, found themselves unable to agree on the disputed issues, and so reported to the respective houses. Following this, the Senate, on Jan. 14, receded from its two amendments—one to include provision for $15,000,000 additional for food loans and the other which would have restricted the Secretary of Agriculture to designated areas in making loans. With this action by the Senate the resolution was sent to the President who, as already stated, affixed his signature to it on Jan. 15.

Before the final action by the Senate, Senator Robinson of Arkansas on Jan. 14 served notice that rather than suffer defeat on the proposal for food loans, efforts would be made to suspend the Senate rules when the Agricultural Appropriation bill, carrying $214,000,000, came up for consideration in order to offer an amendment to appropriate $25,000,000 for the Red Cross to buy food, this to be in addition to any funds it might collect in its $10,000,000 drive. In its Washington dispatch, Jan. 15, the New York "Times" said that fear of Democratic reprisals which would pigeonhole some of the annual supply bills and perhaps force President Hoover to call the next Congress into extra session, had caused the Republican leadership to withdraw objection to the demand of Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic floor leader, that he be allowed to offer a provision to appropriate $25,000.000 for furnishing food to drouth sufferers. On Jan. 26 the United States Senate passed a bill authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to use not exceeding $5,000,000 of the $45,000,000 drouth relief for loans to effect the organization of local agricultural credit corporations and livestock loan corporations. On the same day the Senate passed a resolution authorizing the distribution of 20,000,000 bushels of wheat by the Federal Farm Board for relief purposes. On Jan. 21 the Senate, without a record vote, passed the Interior Department appropriation bill carrying the $25,000.000 for relief purposes. The money was "to be expended by the American National Red Cross for the purpose of supplying food medium, medical aid, and other necessities to afford adequate human relief in the present national emergency to persons otherwise unable to procure the same." However, Chairman John Barton Payne, in testifying, on Jan. 29, before a subcommittee of the House Committee on Appropriations, during hearings on the Senate proposal for the $25.000,000 appropriation, read a resolution adopted by the Red Cross Central Committee saying that it was the sense of the Committee that "the Red Cross is in a position adequately to complete the task it has undertaken in the drouth-stricken areas, and it hereby assumes the responsibility of completing said task without public appropriations, and . . . that it is the sense of the Central Committee that the Red Cross cannot accept the administration of the funds for general relief purposes as provided for under the terms of the bill which has passed the Senate and is now pending in the House of Representatives." Following this announcement by Judge Payne the House Committee on Appropriations on Jan. 29 rejected the Senate amendment by a vote of 18 to 11. According to Associated Press accounts, the House on Jan. 30 rejected in rapid order a series of amendments intended to provide $25,000,000 of Government funds for relief purposes. The Association Press dispatch said:

> The first proposal would have given the fund to the President for distribution. Others would have provided varying means of distributing it to the needy.
> Finally the House rejected the original Robinson proposal to give the fund to the Red Cross for distribution.
> The House, by vote of 217 to 151, rejected the Taylor amendment to turn the $25,000,000 Senate fund over to the President for distribution.
> The McKeown amendment to have the War Department distribute the $25,000,000 fund was defeated, 220 to 91.
> By 255 to 65, the House also rejected the La Guardia amendment to the Interior Department bill under which the $25,000,000 fund would have been distributed by President Hoover to charitable organizations on a basis of matching what funds they could obtain from private sources.
> The Byrns amendment to turn over the fund to the President for distribution through a Governmental agency also was defeated 212 to 149.
> Although several other amendments remained to be voted upon, the strength shown by the Republicans was indicative of the final rejection of the Senate proposal to give the Red Cross $25,000,000.

In a report to the United States Senate, on Jan. 24, Colonel Arthur Woods, Chairman of President Hoover's Emergency Committee on Unemployment, estimated that the number of unemployed in the United States in the first week of December was between 4,500.000 and 5,000,000, or about 10% of the total number of persons with gainful occupations. In testifying before the Senate Appropriations Committee, on Jan. 7, in making a somewhat similar statement, Colonel Woods ventured the opinion that the various construction programs throughout the country the present year, involving expenditures of $2,500.000,000, were adequate to handle the existing situation. William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, on the other hand, in a statement given out on Jan. 27, put the number of unemployed wage earners throughout the country early in January at 5,700.000, basing his estimate on reports from affiliated labor organizations. Mr. Green said that the increase in unemployment since December was partly due to men being laid off by firms which have been keeping their forces at work on part time.

Laying off of part-time workers, Mr. Green said, was especially marked in the garment, metal and other manufacturing industries, and in building. Mr. Green gave out weighted unemployment figures based on reports from trade unions indicating the percentage of wage earners unemployed each month since 1928. These showed that the percentage for January 1931, according to a preliminary report, was 19.4%, or higher than in any month of the whole period, and comparing with only 6.6% in September 1929. On this unemployment situation a smile-provoking statement was contained in advices Jan. 6 to the New York "Times," to the effect that officials in charge of the census of unemployed, to be started Jan. 15 in 20 representative cities, would be instructed to enumerate as employed the street corner venders of apples, despite their "unemployed" placards. It was stated that a conference of experts of the Census Bureau had reached the decision on that day. The ruling was suggested, it was said. by F. A. Gosnell, who had just returned from a trip to Chicago, Buffalo, New York, Detroit, and Philadelphia, setting up the machinery for the census. Mr. Gosnell was represented as having stated that he had learned in his investigation that many persons selling apples as "unemployed" were earning a good living, and candor compels the statement that the facts as gained by daily observation in the streets of New York clearly establish the truth of the assertion.

In the railroad world the agreement of the major Eastern trunk lines for the creation of four competitive systems in Eastern trunk line and official territories in lieu of the "five-party plan" contemplated by the Inter-State Commerce Commission's railroad consolidation plan of December 1929, was announced Jan. 2 by the chief executives of the roads. The plan as set forth contemplates the allocation of the Dela-vare Lackawanna & Western to the New York Central System, together with a direct connection with the Virginian Railway at Deepwater, W. Va., involving joint rates and through routes via the Virginian. The Pennsylvania is to retain its control of the Wabash, the Norfolk & Western, and the Detroit Toledo & Ironton, while the Baltimore & Ohio plans to round out its system by acquisition of the Ann Arbor, the Lehigh & Hudson River, the Reading and the Central of New Jersey, while retaining control of the Buffalo Rochester & Pittsburgh, the Buffalo & Susquehanna, the Western Maryland, and the Chicago & Alton. The Chesapeake & Ohio-Nickel Plate System proposes to retain control of the Hocking Valley, Pere Marquette, Wheeling & Lake Erie, and Chicago & Eastern Illinois, and acquire the Erie, the Bessemer & Lake Erie, and the Lehigh Valley. In connection with the latter road, the Pennsylvania is to have certain trackage rights.

The railway executives' letter on the subject stated that following the promulgation of the Commission's so-called complete plan of railroad consolidation in December 1929 the major trunk lines entered into a series of conferences looking toward the carrying out of the plan, or failing that, a substitute plan.

"The suggestion of the Commission," said the letter, "that modification might be approved by the Commission has led an attempt to provide within the limits of a four-party plan the allocation of nearly all the properties in accordance with what we conceive to be the principles followed by the Commission in its five-party plan. As a result of these negotiations, an agreement covering the allocation of the principal carriers in the Eastern group, excluding New England, has been reached. This agreement is inter-dependent and could not have been reached upon any different basis of allocation."

Dealing in greater detail with the trade development of the month, reference has already been made to the increased activity in the steel industry which, as stated, was from a low start at the end of 1930 and largely of a seasonal character. The "Iron Age" in its issue of Jan. 29 in reporting a further slight gain in activity for the then current week remarked that the improvement had been spotty and had not been shared in by all products. Tin plate specifications continued to increase and some producers reported moderately larger orders from the automobile industry for bars, sheets, strips and pig iron, but railroad equipment buying, it was stated, was at a standstill, rail releases were sluggish, structural steel requirements remained largely prospective and miscellaneous demand for iron and steel continued at close range with no indications of a movement to replenish inventories. In brief, the upturn in business since the first of the year had been disappointingly gradual, yet it was realized that a sudden rush of orders unsupported by a commensurate expansion of consumer needs would have raised, it was observed, false hopes. The stability of the steel price structure was mentioned as one of the most reassuring features of the market. While it was true that there was a lack of tonnage business to give prices a severe test, most large buyers having covered for the quarter at low figures, consumers who buy in small lots were no longer seeking concessions with the placing of each order. In the primary material markets the price situation was in the main quiescent, although not free from weakness. Resale pig iron, offered at 50c. a ton below furnace quotations, was a disturbing factor at Chicago. In Alabama pig iron for district delivery had declined $1 to $13 a ton, Birmingham. Heavy melting scrap was weaker at both Pittsburgh and Chicago, and the "Iron Age" composite price for steel scrap declined from $11.33 to $11.21 a gross ton, dipping under the low figure for 1930—$11.25—reached in December. The "Age" made the composite price of finished steel Feb. 3 2.142c., as compared with 2.121 on Jan. 6. The composite price of pig iron at the same date was reported at $15.90 a gross ton, the same as a month earlier.

In the nonferrous metals some weakness again developed in copper. Copper Exporters Inc. on Jan. 9 had reduced the price of copper for export ¼c. a lb., making the new price 10.55c. delivered in London, Hamburg and Havre. This reduction in the export price of the metal followed a cut in the domestic market of ¼c. a lb. on Jan. 8 to 10¼c., this being for copper delivered at factories in Connecticut. On Jan. 10 the export price of copper was reduced another ¼c. to 10.30c. a lb. c.i.f., European base ports. The domestic price remained at 10c. On January 16, however, with buying of the metal for export continuing in fair volume, Copper Exporters Inc. marked up the price of the metal for March and April shipment, apparently it was stated, to enable custom smelters to hold their sales to the nearer months. March shipments was increased 5 points to 10.35c. a lb. and April 10 points to 10.40c. a lb. January and February quotations were kept at 10.30c. while the 10c. level was maintained for domestic shipments delivered to the end of May. Here in New York Lake copper was reduced on Jan. 9 from 10⅝c. to 10⅜c. on Jan. 14 to 10⅛c. and on Jan. 30 to 9⅞c. Electrolytic was reduced Jan. 8 from 10¼c. to 9¾c. and on Jan. 29 to 9½. Lead prices were also weak, the quotation Jan. 5 being reduced from 5.10c. to 5.00c., on Jan. 7 further reduced to 4.85c. and on Jan. 8 to 4.75c. which price was maintained the rest of the month. Tin prices showed greater stability the quotation here in New York, Jan. 31, being 25.50c. against 26.62½c. Jan. 2, though in the interval the price was as high as 27.25c. Jan. 7 and as low as 25.12½c. Jan. 16. Sir Philip Cuniffe Lister, Chairman of the Tin Producers Association, announced that the scheme for regulating tin output by a system of international quotas had the approval of Sir Cecil Clementi, High Commissioner of the Federated Malay States, and that the Malayan Government had been assured the support of a great majority of Malayan companies as well as individual producers, both British and Chinese in Malaya. The Dutch East Indies, Bolivian and Nigerian Governments had already approved the scheme and were in complete agreement regarding its operation. The statement was issued with the approval o the council of the Tin Producers Association. Sir Philip pointed out:

(1) That the international agreement would remain in force two years;
(2) That the quota ratio allotted to Malaya was on equal terms with the aggregate allotted to the three countries already signatories to the agreement;
(3) The essence of the agreement was correlation of world production to consumption and gradual reduction of the existing excessive stocks so that producers might definitely count on a better price.

London Associated Press advices Jan. 7 stated that Chinese tin mining interests in the Federated Malay States, which are under British protection, were supporting a proposal to restrict tin production in 1931 to 78% of the 1929 output. The agreement was to go into effect March 1.

In petroleum and its products the principal features were some weakness in the crude oil price schedule in the Southwest and the meeting of oil representatives in Washington to insist on a tariff on oil. The fight for action on the tariff, however, was dealt a blow in the announcement by Chairman Hawley of the House Ways and Means Committee that he would not call any hearing on the tariff question until the Tariff Commission had made its report. Inasmuch as the Tariff Commission is engaged in an extensive survey which is not expected to be completed until the latter part of February, this manifestly put an end to any hope of action at the present session of Congress. There were a number of price changes in the case of gasoline, all of which, as well as the changes in crude oil, are enumerated in the following:

CRUDE OIL.

Jan. 14.—Humble Refining posted reduction of from 2c. to 28c. a barrel for crude oil purchased in the North Texas, Panhandle and Gulf Coast fields. New price established 400 crude at 67c. a barrel. This reduction placed Humble at the same posted level as Gulf Refining, which was posted Oct. 30.

Jan. 16.—Magnolia Petroleum, Sinclair, Simms Petroleum and Continental Oil met the crude oil price reductions posted by Humble.

GASOLINE AND KEROSENE.

Jan. 2.—All major refining companies met Tidewater's advance and quoted bulk gasoline at 7c. a gallon or higher.

Jan. 3.—Standard Oil of Indiana posted a 5c. a gallon advance in the service station price of gasoline in Detroit. Advance was met by all other major refiners, making service station price 17.8c. a gallon.

Jan. 3.—All refiners posted in advance of 2c. a gallon in the tank wagon price of gasoline in Kansas City, making retail price 13.9c. a gallon.

Jan. 5.—Carson Petroleum advanced price of kerosene ½c. a gallon to 6½c. a gallon for 41-43 water white, in tank car lots, at the refineries in New York City.

Jan. 6.—All refiners advanced price of gasoline 1.2c. a gallon, in Minneapolis establishing service station price of 18.2c. a gallon.

Jan. 8.—In renewal of price war, all major refiners in Lucas County, Ohio, reduced price of gasoline 2c. a gallon to 15c. a gallon at service stations, tax paid.

Jan. 14.—Texas Corp. announced a one cent advance in the tank wagon price of U. S. Motor Gasoline in the New York and New England area.

Jan. 16.—Atlantic Refining met the one cent advance of Texas Corp. throughout New England marketing points.

Jan. 19.—Standard Oil of New York and Warner-Quinlan advanced the tank wagon price of gasoline 1c. a gallon throughout the New York and New England territory. Advance was to meet increase posted previous week by several companies and had no effect on retail prices.

In the textile trades the feature was the demand in the cotton goods market for wide print cloths, particularly the active preference shown for the finer grade goods constructions, notably the 4 yard 80 square, the low prices of which are being taken advantage of by buyers' for dresses that will retail at low figures. Print cloths, however, moved lower and the price at Fall River for 28-inch 64x60 was reduced on Jan. 14 from 4½ to 4c. The price of the raw material, cotton, moved within relatively moderate limits, but the trend was towards higher levels, spot cotton here in New York being quoted Jan. 31 at 10.45c., as against 10.15c. on Jan. 2. The low figure for the month was 10.00c., Jan. 12, and the high 10.60c., Jan. 23. Indications pointed to a sharp curtailment of cotton acreage for the new crop. Another ginning return made its appearance. The Bureau of Census, on Jan. 23, issued its report, showing the number of bales of cotton ginned up to Jan. 16, from which it appeared that up to that date the present season total ginnings had been 13,592,104 bales, against 14,176,936 bales in the corresponding period of the preceding season, and 13,888,972 bales the season before. The operations of the Federal Farm Board were the subject of much comment. Generally speaking, interference on the part of the Farm Board was deplored, but there was also sporadic favorable comment. Characterizing the outlook for American cotton as "tragic," and the product "unpopular" with world spinners, the economics committee of the American Cotton Shipper's Association issued through its Chairman, J. W. Garrow, of Houston, a statement calling for retirement from cotton merchandising by the Federal Government. The statement was issued after a 3-day conference. On the other hand, full endorsement of the Federal Farm Board, the Agricultural Marketing Act, and their operation was voiced in a resolution adopted at New Orleans on Jan. 10 by the meeting of directors of the State Cotton Co-operative Association, affiliated with the American Cotton Co-operative Association.

Under date of Jan. 14, the Bureau of the Census issued its statement of cotton consumption for the month of December, showing 406,207 bales of lint and 43,989 bales of linters consumed in December 1930 as against 452,685 bales of lint, and 52,152 bales of linters in December 1929. The Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York in its statistical report covering the five weeks of December showed that production during that period had been 234,052,000 yards, or at the rate of 46,810,000 yards per week. This was 23.2% less than for the corresponding weeks in December 1929. Shipments were 226,951,000 yards, equivalent to 97% of production. Sales were 182,656,000 yards, or 78% of production. Stocks on hand at the end of the month amounted to 363,962,000 yards, representing an increase of 2% during the month. Unfilled orders on Dec. 31 were 288,956,000 yards, representing an increase of 13.3% during the month. During the year 1930 stocks on hand decreased 97,051,000 yards, a reduction of 21%. This was taken as a clear indication of the success which has attended the efforts of many mills to keep their production in line with the reduced demand during 1930. For the first time since 1926 shipments for the year were in excess of production. The ratio of shipments to production for 1930 was 103.4% as compared with 98% in 1929, 98.4% in 1928 and 97.8% in 1927. Stocks on hand at the end of 1930 were substantially less than at the end of the two preceding years. These statistics on the manufacture and sale of standard cotton cloths are compiled from data supplied by 23 groups of manufacturers and selling agents reporting through the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York and the Cotton-Textile Institute, Inc. The groups cover upwards of 300 classifications or constructions of standard cotton cloths and represent a large part of the production of these fabrics in the United States.

The Danville (Va.) textile strike which began Sept. 29 and involved 4,000 members of the United Textile Workers came to a conclusion on Jan. 29 with a statement issued by Francis J. Gorman, Vice-President of the organization, in which he contended that the Riverside & Dan River Cotton Mills in taking back to work members of the union thus "respected" the union and that therefore there was no reason for a strike to continue. A despatch from Danville to the New York "Journal of Commerce" said it was a hollow victory for the union, with no concession granted on the stretchout complaint, no restoration of wages, that existed prior to a 10% wage cut and without formal recognition by the mills of the principle of collective bargaining.

Raw silk prices showed further improvement and Japanese double extra 13-15 deniers were quoted Jan. 31 at $2.85@$2.95 a yard, as against $2.60@$2.70 Dec. 31, $2.40@$2.45 on Nov. 29, and also on Oct. 31; $2.35@$2.45, Sept. 30; $2.95@$3.00 on Aug. 29; $2.85@$2.95, July 31; $3.10@$3.15, June 30; $3.90@$3.95, May 31; $4.10@$4.15, Apr. 30, and $4.70@$4.75, Jan. 31 1930. In the 20-22 deniers, Japanese crack double extra were quoted at $2.85@$2.90 Jan. 31, against $2.70@$2.75, Dec. 31; $2.30@$2.35 on Nov. 29; $2.25@$2.30 on Oct. 31, and also on Sept. 30; $2.65@$2.70, Aug. 29; $2.70@$2.75, July 31; $2.85@$2.90, June 30; $3.75@$3.80, May 31; $4.10@$4.15, April 30, and $4.60@$4.65 on Jan. 31 1930.

A reduction in rayon prices, effective Jan. 9, of from 15 to 35 cents a pound, or up to 20% as compared with previous quotations, was announced on Jan. 8 by the Viscose Co., the largest producer of rayon in this country.

New price levels for its rayon yarns, bringing them in line with those established by the Viscose Co., were announced Jan. 10 by the du Pont Rayon Co., second largest American producer of synthetic yarns. It also announced the adoption of the 90-day-from-date-of-invoice and the rebate system inaugurated by Viscose. Reductions ranged from 15c. to 45c., the latter being on its 50 denier 20 filament coned super extra yarn, which was changed to $1.75 and was formerly quoted at $2.20. Second quality coned super extra yarns were eliminated in the new list.

Crude rubber continued depressed and again moved lower with ribbed smoked sheets for spot delivery quoted at 7¾@8c. on Jan. 31 against 8⅜@8½c. on Dec. 31; 9@9⅛c., Nov. 29; 8⅝@8⅞c., Oct. 31; 7⅞@7½c., Sept. 30; 9⅝@9¾c., Aug. 29; 10⅜@10½c., July 31; 12@12⅜c., June 30; 13¾@14c., May 31; 14@14¼c., April 30; 15½@15¾c., March 31, and 15¾@15⅞c., Feb. 28 1930. Announcements of sweeping cuts in retail tire prices were made on Jan. 12 by three of the largest Akron rubber companies.

The General Tire & Rubber Co. announced a reduction of 7½ to 12% on all passenger tires, but said no cut in truck tire prices had been made or was contemplated.

The B. F. Goodrich Co. issued a statement saying that it "has revised its tire price schedule to meet the reductions announced the previous week by competitive companies."

Official confirmation was obtained of the cut of 6½ to 12% credited to the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

The Seiberling Rubber Co. announced slashes on all tires of the mail-order grade, but stated higher-priced lines would be practically undisturbed. Further advices from Akron, Jan. 13, said that the India Tire & Rubber Co. and the Mohawk Rubber Co. had joined the list of Akron tire corporations slashing retail prices 6½ to 12%.

On Jan. 14 the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. announced that it had made adjustments in tire prices to its dealers to enable them to meet tire price reductions by other companies. Some of the tire manufacturers have reduced prices from 6½ to 12%.

In the grain markets the Federal Farm Board succeeded in holding up the price of wheat in the options to which it was extending support, and the July option for the new crop, in which the Board was not carrying on operations, after moving up sharply the first business day of the month also retained its advance the rest of the month. At Winnipeg also prices were somewhat higher, but, as in the case of the July option at Chicago, prices ruled away below the near options at Chicago, to which the Farm Board was extending support. The March option at Chicago against an opening price on Jan. 2 of 79¾c. closed Jan. 31 at 79½c. and in the interval sold as high as 83½c. Jan. 15. The May option for wheat in Chicago closed Jan. 31 at 82⅝c. as against an opening price Jan. 2 of 81½c. On Jan. 15 this option sold as high as 86½c. July wheat at Chicago closed Jan. 31 at 65¾c. which compares with the opening price Jan. 2 of 62¾c. May wheat at Winnipeg which opened Jan. 2 at 54¾c., closed Jan. 31 at 58⅛c. In corn a sharp decline occurred following a brisk rise in the early part of the month. March corn in Chicago sold up from 66⅜c. Jan. 2 to 73¼c. Jan. 7, but from this figure tumbled to 61⅞ Jan. 31 notwithstanding that the 1930 corn crop in the United States was the smallest of any year since 1901. Oats prices at Chicago fluctuated within narrow limits, with the March option quoted at 32½c. Jan. 31 against the opening price Jan. 2 of 31¾c. A feature of the corn market was that corn displaced wheat in the Chicago grain pit on account of the operations of the Farm Board, which remained in absolute control of the situation and whose dealings of course were secret. Accordingly speculation in wheat died out and corn was taken up instead. A Chicago dispatch Jan. 7 to the New York "Times" reported the change as follows:

> Wheat, which has ruled as monarch of the Chicago Board of Trade grain pits for 10 years, to-day lost its throne to the hitherto less conspicuous fellow-ruler, corn. On Monday next corn and wheat traders will exchange pits. The directors of the Board of Trade announced the transfer this morning.
> The move was forced because the speculative interest in corn on the Board of Trade has increased 100% of late as a result of the decreased interest in the wheat market, which is controlled largely by Federal Farm Board trading agencies. There are no government restrictions on corn, hence it has come to the fore, transactions in it being nearly three times larger than wheat, while usually it is the reverse.

Coffee prices continued depressed. No. 7 Rio in this market was quoted at 6¾c. Jan. 31, against 7¼@7½c. Dec. 31; 7½c., Nov. 29; 8½c. on Oct. 31; 7⅜@7½c. on Sept. 30; 6¼@6½c., Aug. 29; 7½c., July 31, and 8¾c. at the end of June. No. 7 Santos, Jan. 31, was 8¾@9c., against 8¾@9¼c. Dec. 31; 10@10½c., Nov. 29; 11@11¼c., Oct. 31; 10¼@11c., Sept. 30; 8¾@9¼c., Aug. 29, and at 10@10½c. July 31, as well as on June 30.

Sugar prices moved higher as a result of the conclusion of the Chadbourne scheme for restricting exports and production. Cuban raw sugar which Dec. 31 sold at 1.24@1.25c. touched 1.40c. Jan. 10, then sold at 1.38c. Jan. 14, recovered to 1.42c. Jan. 20 after which there was a sale the next day at 1.40c. The wholesale price of refined sugar in this market was advanced to 4.70c. at all the leading refineries on Jan. 8 as against the previous price of 4.55c. which had been in effect since Dec. 22.

homas L. Chadbourne officially announced on Jan. 9 final settlement with Germany to enter the international r agreement was made on the basis of a 1,750,000 tons rt quota for the period of five years in which the Chadne plan will be in effect. The original figure offered to nany was 1,000,000 tons. The difference of 750,000 will be taken care of to the extent of 575,000 tons by a, while the remaining 175,000 tons would be forced, it stated, upon the European beet producers. The text of Chadbourne's cable to Senator Gutierrez of Cuba was ollows:

bject to approval by the German producers which will be obtained at day's meeting I have verbally agreed on the export quota of 500,000 for the first year, 350,000 tons the second year and 300,000 tons for the l, fourth and fifth years, totaling 1,750,000 tons, which is an increase of 000 tons over the original proposal to Germany.

ne split-up of the 750,000 tons provides that Cuba restricts further 000 tons, the rest out of Brussel's quota to other beet producing coun-. Cuba's total exportation for the first year of new and old crop rs will be 3,455,000 tons, second year 3,605,000 and the third to fifth 's 3,755,000 tons.

uba's exports in 1932 and 1933 will be increased by the total consumpincrease in the United States. During the years 1934 and 1935, it will ncreased by half the increase in consumption in the United States, plus an consumption of 150,000 tons annually and taking into consideration liquidation of the segregated stocks of 300,000 tons yearly. This will esent a crop of 3,305,000 tons in the first year, 3,455,000 tons the nd year and 3,505,000 tons in the third, fourth and fifth years.

n addition the first year we may be able to manufacture the difference ween the sugar received this year by the National Sugar Export Corp. t reported 1,325,000 tons) and the total of 1,500,000 tons. Besides crop will be increased to provide Cuba's share of consumption increase he United States.

Associated Press advices from Paris, Jan. 17, reported the ning of the agreement as follows:

Representatives of producers in seven great sugar-producing countries day concluded an agreement for what amounts to virtual world restricn of production.

The signatory powers were Cuba, the Netherlands, Poland, Czechovakia, Hungary, Germany and Belgium. Thomas L. Chadbourne, resenting Cuban and American interests, who negotiated the agreent, said that discussions with producers in Russia, Japan, Great Britain l the Argentine would soon be initiated and that it was hoped to bring se nations also into an accord, which he declared would solve the oblems of the planter without increasing the price of sugar to the conmer.

Shortly after signature of the agreement was announced Mr. Chadurne received a cablegram from the Cuban government conveying the ngratulations of President Machado on the success of the negotiations and claring that the conclusion of an accord was the most important event Cuba since that nation had acquired independence. The agreement is run for five years.

The Jan. 22 issue of the "Wall Street Journal" also conined the following Havana advices:

President Machado has signed a decree outlining provisions with respect sugar exports to the United States and to other countries, in accordance ith the Chadbourne-Gutierrez plan of last November. The decree is to effective from the date of publication.

Among other things, it provides that all sugar exported to the United ates from Jan. 1 1931, be charged to the individual quota set apart for ch mill. Exports to countries other than the United States will be andled on a similar basis.

A cablegram from Havana, Jan. 21, to the New York Times" contained the following additional details:

Cuba's sugar output for 1931 will not exceed 3,000,000 tons. Exports o the United States are to be limited by a Presidential decree to 2,605,000 ons, according to an announcement made to-day by the Board of Directors f the National Sugar Exporting Corp., which was created under the proisions of the Chadbourne-Gutierrez sugar plan to control sugar manufacturing and exportation during the next five years.

An estimate of the average production of each mill for the past three ears will be the basis for the allocation of the quota that mill shall grind his year so as not to exceed the total output, the corporation announces. The directors are still working on legal matters in connection with the proposed issuance of bonds in guarantee of sugar delivered by producers to he corporation recently to make possible the elimination from the world narket of 1,500,000 tons of the Cuban product, one of the features of the Chadbourne plan for world stabilization of the industry.

THE JANUARY FINANCING OF THE UNITED STATES TREASURY.

An offering of a total of $60,000,000, "or thereabouts," of 90-day Treasury bills to be sold on a discount basis to the highest bidders, was announced by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon on the evening of Sunday, Jan. 25. Tenders for the same were received up to 2 p. m. Eastern Standard time on Friday, Jan. 30. The new bills were offered in two series, each for the amount of $30,000,000, "or thereabouts," —one to be dated Feb. 3 1931 and to mature May 4 1931, and the other to be dated Feb. 4 1931 and to mature May 5 1931. It was specifically stated that "bidders would not be required or permitted to bid for a particular series, but the Treasury will apportion each accepted bid equally between the two series insofar as the minimum denomination of $1,000 will permit." At maturity the face amount of the bills, as in the case of all Treasury bills sold on a discount basis, is payable without interest. The bills were exempt, as all bills now are, from the surtaxes, as well as the normal income taxes, and were, in fact, exempt from all forms of taxation, Federal and State, excepting only estate and inheritance taxes. Any gain from the sale or other disposition of the bills is likewise exempt under an Act of Congress approved in June 1930.

This offering of bills was again an unqualified success, fortified as it was by every species of tax exemption, and the low income basis upon which the Treasury was able to dispose of its offering reflected the profound ease prevailing in the money market. During the course of the month market rates for bankers' acceptances in this city had been reduced four separate times, ⅛% each time, and the Federal Reserve Bank of New York had likewise adjusted its buying rate for acceptances by following the downward movement of market rates for acceptances, and at the time of the closing of subscriptions for the new Treasury bills this buying rate was only 1½% per annum on bills running from 1 to 45 days, and 1⅝% for bills running from 46 to 120 days—by far the lowest during the existence of the Federal Reserve System. The subscriptions for the new bills aggregated $327,805,000. The highest bid received was 99.782, equivalent to an interest rate of about ⅞ of 1% on an annual basis. The lowest bid accepted was 99.753, equivalent to an interest rate of about 1% on an annual basis. The total amount of bids accepted was just $60,000,000, and this was equally apportioned between the two series. The average price of the bids accepted was 99.763, making the average rate on a bank discount basis about 0.95%—that is, less than 1% per annum—illustrating in a striking manner the extreme plentitude of short-term funds and likewise the distrust and loss of confidence prevailing in the financial world under which there is a marked disinclination to invest in long-term funds and to prefer short-term funds instead. The last previous sale of Treasury bills was on Nov. 13 1930, when subscriptions were invited for a total of $125,000,000 of bills running 91 days, and when tenders were received to an aggregate of $568,280,000, while $127,455,000 of subscriptions were accepted, the average price of the bills allotted being 99.564, or an average on a bank discount basis of 1.72% per annum. This last constituted the best price obtained up to that time on any sale of Treasury bills. The average now obtained of only about 0.95% per annum of course far surpasses this average of 1.72% obtained two months before, in November.

NEW SECURITY ISSUES AND DIVIDENDS IN JANUARY.

THE COURSE OF THE STOCK MARKET DURING JANUARY 1931.

On a moderate volume of business the stock market in the opening month of the new year made a quiet display of strength, and following the upward reaction that marked the closing days of December an irregular further rise occurred. But, while the trend was upward, the rise was by no means continuous, either in the case of individual stocks or as far as the market as a whole is concerned. The rising tendency was attended by not a few downward reactions, and there were periods of distinct weakness, days of declining prices being interspersed with the series of days that had net gains to their credit. Taking the 50 stocks that form the basis of the averages so long compiled by the New York "Times," there were net gains on 14 days and net losses on 12 days, and there was an advance in the case of these 50 stocks from a low of 142.75 on Jan. 2 to a high of 156.49 on Jan. 30, with the close on Jan. 31 at 153.41. The rise extended to both the railroad list and to the industrial group, though the railroads exhibited more sustained strength than the industrial group. The 25 railroad stocks advanced from a low of 80.08 Jan. 2 to a high of 93.39 on Jan. 27, with the close Jan. 31 at 91.93. The average for the 25 industrial stocks, on the other hand, rose from a low of 205.43 on Jan. 2 to 222.17 Jan. 9, then tumbled back to a new low of 203.97 Jan. 19, or lower than the low figure at the beginning of the month, but then advanced again to 220.62 Jan. 30, with the close Jan. 31 at 214.90. The irregularity here shown in the course of the industrial stocks reflects accurately the conflicting influences which were the conspicuous feature of the month, and which served to cause considerable irregularity in the price movements of individual stock as news came to hand bearing on the income and condition of such stock.

Many developments made it plain that liquiation in the general market had been thorough and complete, in the culminating breakdown in the stock market which occurred in December, and that in this circumstance there existed a substantial basis for a brisk recovery from the extreme low levels then reached, or, in other words, that in the great collapse which then took place prices had perhaps been carried lower than was justified by the intrinsic merit of the different properties. On the other hand, however, now that the year 1930 was closed, there were bound to be unpleasant revelations as to the extent to which many properties had suffered reductions of business and profits, and disappointment, in addition, in many cases as to the recovery in trade and industry which could now be counted upon. As it happened, these revelations of losses sustained in 1930 by reason of the depression in trade and industry came aplenty as the returns of corporate results for the calendar year made their appearance, and what was especially noteworthy, they were accompanied by dividend reductions and suspensions which put a different light upon the values of the properties concerned than conclusions based upon the much more favorable results that marked the income statements for the previous calendar year when industrial activity was at its height. One conspicuous instance of how revenues had shrunk was furnished in the case of the income statement of the United States Steel Corp. for the December quarter of 1930, which was made public after the close of business on Tuesday, Jan. 27. This showed that this great industrial undertaking had earned only 70c. a share on its common stock for that quarter in 1930, as against $4.14 in the corresponding quarter of 1929, and that after the payment of the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾% on the common shares a deficiency of $9,144,897 appeared, as against a surplus of $19,126,425 in the last three months of 1929. This, too, was after the inclusion in the 1930 results of a special item of non-recurring income for $3.695,426. With this eliminated, the earnings on the stock were only 27c. a share. For the full calendar year 1930 the company, of course, made a much better exhibit, showing more than the full 7% dividends earned even after elimination of special income receipts of $10,901.555. But, of course, the important point was the state of things at the close of the year, as best indicative of current prospects. Other instances of heavy losses of income came to hand, and, as already said, dividend reductions and dividend omissions were accompanying features.

The market opened strong on Friday, Jan. 2, and a further sharp upturn occurred in continuation of the brisk recovery which had marked the closing days of December. The railroad list manifested particular strength, and during the whole of the early part of the month led in the general upward movement. A favorable view was taken of the action of the Eastern trunk lines in reaching an agreement for apportioning the mileage in their territory among the four great trunk line systems, namely, the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore & Ohio, and the Nickel Plate-Chesapeake & Ohio—this not only on its own account, but because it was looked upon as a prelude to mergers in other parts of the country. The advance of the railroad stocks carried the general market up with it. However, in the case of the industrial stocks fluctuations were governed largely by developments relating to the individual properties. Thus the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. shares were temporarily strong on the announcement that the regular quarterly dividends of $1.25 on the common stock and $1.75 on the preferred stock had been declared. After the meeting, however, statements appeared that the common stock dividend had not been fully earned, though mainly because of year-end inventory adjustments, and then the stocks fell off again. Later in the month reductions in tire prices made the rubber stocks particularly weak. The sugar stocks gained strength from the news that Germany had arranged to give its adhesion to the Chadbourne plan for sugar restriction, insuring the carrying out of this restriction plan. As the month progressed there were unfavorable developments of one kind or another which served to hold the upward movement in check, as far as the general market was concerned, and to bring about sharp declines in special stocks. Thus the oil stocks suffered by reason of the marking down of oil prices in the Mid-Continent and other areas and by the appointment of a receiver for the Richfield Oil Co. of California. A big falling off shown in an estimate of the profits of the Texas Corp. for the calendar year 1930, which appeared at this time, operated to the same end. Cuts in the prices of chemicals in the alkali group, which had been acting to the detriment of the chemical stocks for some time, appeared to have been halted, but the chemical stocks, nevertheless, suffered sharp breaks, Allied Chemical & Dye being especially conspicuous in that respect. This stock dropped from 179½ Jan. 7 to 153½ Jan. 19, and closed Jan. 21 at 156¼. Other stocks also displayed weakness because of circumstances relating to themselves. Thus Gillette Safety Razor was under pressure owing to rumors of a probable reduction in the dividend, and this stock, which in January of the previous year sold as high as 106⅛, after rising during the current month from 21⅛ Jan. 2 to 28 Jan. 12, fell back again and closed Jan. 31 at 24⅝. United States Steel was more or less depressed the latter part of the month, notwithstanding that trade reports showed slowly reviving activity in the steel trade, and notwithstanding that President James A. Farrell, in an address at Chicago, on Monday, Jan. 19, declared quite confidently that the country had seen the worst of the prevailing business depression. The weakness in the stock of the Steel Corp. was due to advance calculations as to the unfavorable results that were to appear in the quarterly statement of the company to be submitted on Jan. 27.

The closing week of the month was especially marked by adverse developments. On Monday, Jan. 26, there came news that the Stewart Warner Corp. had omitted the dividend on its common stock; on Tuesday, Jan. 27, it was announced that the Studebaker Corp. had placed its common stock on an $1.20 annual dividend basis against $3.00 per annum previously paid. On Wednesday, Jan. 28, the directors of the Wabash Railway deferred action on the preferred A dividend and the preferred B. This last had an unfavorable effect on the railroad list generally, which previously had manifested considerable strength, as noted above. The U. S. Steel statement for the December quarter was given out after the close of business on Tuesday, Jan. 27, but appeared to have little influence one way of the other on the price of the stock the next day, as the statement proved in line with the estimates previously made. The most important event, however, at this time, in its influence on the market, was the fear that Congress would pass the bonus bill providing for the cashing of the adjusted service certificates held by the World War veterans, and which would require the issuance of $3,400,000,000 of United States bonds. The developments with respect to that event came very fast, and on Wednesday, Jan. 28, as a result, all the different issues of United States Government securities suffered sharp declines on what was termed selling by the banks. This depression in the Government bond market weakened bonds generally, and the whole had a bad effect on the stock market, though on Thursday, Jan. 29, after further depression in the morning, there came an upward reaction in the afternoon, stimulated by a rise in the stock of Montgomery Ward & Co., occasioning buying induced by the marked improvement in the company's earnings for the final months of 1930. The annual report of the company showed net earnings for the last quarter of 1930 of $3,417,202, which was sufficient to wipe out the deficits for each of the preceding three quarters of the year and leave a net profit of $423,211 after taxes, which, however compared with the net profit for 1929 of $13,434,935. Th rise in Montgomery Ward stimulated buying in the othe mail order issues, and the advance in the mail order stock carried the whole market upward, so that most of the losse of the early morning were recovered in the afternoon nearl all through the list. On Jan. 30 the recovery was carrie further, sharp advances occurring in a number of specia stocks, but this was followed on Saturday, Jan. 31, by decidedly reactionary market. The money market remaine extremely easy, the call loan rate on the Stock Exchang never deviating from 1½%, with loans obtainable outsid the Exchange as low as 1%.

Some stocks distinguished themselves for sharp advance Thus Auburn Automobile rose from 101½ Jan. 14 to 14 Jan. 30, and closed Jan. 31 at 138½. As far as the ordinar market leaders are concerned, United States Steel, afte opening Jan. 2 at 139¾, sold down on that day to 137⅞ then advanced to 145 Jan. 9, after which, however, it su fered a sharp setback, and closed Jan. 31 at 139¼. Bethle hem Steel, after opening Jan. 2 at 51, touched 54⅛ Jan. then dropped to 45⅝ Jan. 19, and closed Jan. 31 at 50⅝ American Tel. & Tel., from 176½ Jan. 2, rose to 190½ Jan. 27, and closed Jan. 31 at 187⅜. General Electric, afte opening at 44⅛ Jan. 2, advanced to 47 Jan. 7, then decline to 41⅜ Jan. 19, and closed Jan. 31 at 44. American Can after opening Jan. 2 at 110½, rose to 115¾ Jan. 7, the dropped to 106¼ Jan. 19, and closed Jan. 31 at 110½. Ana conda Copper, from 29¾ Jan. 2, advanced to 34⅞ Jan. 2 and then, as it appeared that the price of the metal, coppe was being shaded, fell back, and closed Jan. 31 at 33. Ker necott Copper, after advancing from 22½ Jan. 2 to 26½ Jan. 23, fell back and closed at 23¾ Jan. 31. Genera Motors rose from 35¼ Jan. 2 to 38⅞ Jan. 26, and close Jan. 31 at 38. International Harvester sold up from 4 Jan. 16 to 54⅛ Jan. 30, and closed Jan. 31 at 51¾. Westing house Electric & Manufacturing, after opening Jan. 2 a 91⅜, rose to 95⅝ Jan. 3, dropped back to 82⅜ Jan. 1 and closed Jan. 31 at 84⅜. Montgomery Ward & Co. ad vanced from 15¾ Jan. 2 to 20⅞ Jan. 30, and closed Jan. 3 at 19⅞. Sears, Roebuck & Co. moved up from 44⅞ Jan. to 51⅞ Jan. 29, and closed Jan. 31 at 50⅝. Studebake Corp. declined from 24⅞ Jan. 9 to 20½ Jan. 29, and close Jan. 31 at 21. Radio Corp. of America rose from 12 Jan. to 16¼ Jan. 30, and closed Jan. 31 at 15¼. North America advanced from 62 Jan. 2 to 72⅜ Jan. 24, and closed Jan. 3 at 70½. Pacific Gas & Electric, opening Jan. 2 at 4 touched 50 Jan. 7, dropped to 45¼ Jan. 15, and close Jan. 31 at 46. In the railroad list Atchison sold up fro 178⅛ Jan. 2 to 197⅜ Jan. 26, and closed Jan. 31 at 192¾ New York Central advanced from 113 Jan. 2 to 127 Jan. 2 and closed Jan. 31 at 123½. Baltimore & Ohio moved u from 68⅛ Jan. 2 to 82 Jan. 26, and closed Jan. 31 at 79⅛ Rock Island rose from 47¼ Jan. 2 to 65½ Jan. 27, an closed Jan. 31 at 60½ bid and 62 asked. St. Louis-Sa Francisco advanced from 43 Jan. 2 to 62¾ Jan. 27, wit the close Jan. 31 55 bid and 58½ asked. Louisville & Nash ville, from 90⅛ Jan. 2, spurted up to 109¼ Jan. 31. Ne Haven rose from 75 Jan. 2 to 91 Jan. 9, with the clos Jan. 31 87½ bid and 90 asked, and Union Pacific ros from 179¾ Jan. 2 to 198 Jan. 26, with the close Jan. 3 at 197.

Trading, as already stated, was of moderate volume. O the New York Stock Exchange the sales for the mont aggregated 42,423,343 shares, which compares wit 58,764,402 shares in December, and with 62,308,290 shares i January 1930, 110,805,940 shares in January 192 56,919,395 shares in 1928, and with 34,275,410 shares i January 1927. On the New York Curb Exchange th sales totaled only 9,348,900 shares in January 1931 agains 16,108,800 shares in January 1930 and 43,546,800 shares i January 1929. The bond market developed growing strengt up to the last week of the month, when the agitation i Congress for cashing the adjusted service certificates o the war veterans began to attract public notice. It appeare from the testimony of the Secretary of the Treasury, M Mellon, that this would involve the issuance of $3,400,000,00 of new United States bonds. Holders of the outstandin issues of United States Government bonds immediatel became apprehensive and began disposing of their holding with the result that prices of Government bonds brok badly. Recognizing that if Government bonds were to se at lower levels, there would be a readjustment of bon values generally, the general bond market also suffere severe losses. The extent of the losses in the United State issues has been shown in a table in the earlier part of thi article. To indicate the decline in bonds generally the la few days of January we give the following table:

THE MONEY MARKET DURING JANUARY 1931.

The ease in the money market was further accentuated in the opening month of the new year, as it was bound to be with the mercantile demand for accommodation almost entirely absent, with Stock Exchange borrowing still undergoing further contraction, and with the return flow of money from the interior sections of the country and likewise the release of money from holiday circulation and with the New York Reserve Bank further lowering its buying rate for bankers' acceptances as market rates for acceptances kept moving steadily downward, this buying rate being on Monday, Jan. 26, cut to only 1½% per annum on bills running from 1 to 45 days, and to 1⅝% for bills running from 46 to 120 days—rates previously unknown. In addition, in New York City and throughout other parts of the United States, the banks had the use of the large Government deposits growing out of the sale of Treasury certificates of indebtedness made the previous Dec. 9, when the allotments aggregated $428,322,000. As previously stated, and as is well known, it is the practice of the United States Treasury to leave the proceeds of the sales of certificates on deposit with the banks through whom or on behalf of which the subscriptions are made, and to draw these Government deposits down only as needed from time to time. There is a distinct advantage in the holding of such Government deposits in the fact that the banks are not required to maintain any reserves against the same. At the time of the sale of these certificates in December the aggregate of these Government deposits reached $309,972,400, of which $79,291,900 was held by the banks in the New York Federal Reserve District. At the end of January $128,360,900 of these Government deposits still remained on deposit with the banks throughout the country, of which $32,603,200 was on deposit in the New York Federal Reserve District. The "Monthly Review" of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, in its issue for Feb. 2 1931, had the following to say:

"In January the surplus of funds in the New York money market was larger and more continuous than at any time in a number of years. The immediate cause was a reversal of the currency movement of the previous month. In the five weeks from Dec. 24 to Jan. 28 the return flow of currency into the Reserve Banks totaled $470,000,000, which is slightly more than the usual seasonal movement.

"During this period two distinct tendencies were discernible. In the final week of December and the first few days of January some continuation of unsettled banking conditions was reflected in a less rapid return flow of currency from holiday circulation than is usual for the time of year, indicating that, although obscured by the seasonal retirement of currency, some further withdrawals of deposits from the banks were taking place. After the first week of January there was evidence of more stable banking conditions and a gradual restoration of public confidence which appeared in a more than seasonal flow of currency into the Reserve Banks. Near the end of the month it appeared, however, that the retirement of the extra currency which was called into use in December was still far from complete. A gain of about $43,500,000 of gold, including imports and gold released from earmark, was a supplementary factor making for easier money conditions in January.

"The accumulation of surplus funds in New York is a development rarely encountered in recent years, but typical of periods of serious business recession. Lower commodity prices and reduced payrolls lead, at such times, to reductions in the amount of currency in circulation and the pouring into New York of funds seeking employment. This tendency is accentuated when apprehension limits the types of employment of funds which banks and other investors are willing to make."

Somewhat of a disturbing element was introduced in the closing days of the month by the agitation in Congress of the proposal to pay in cash the adjusted service certificates held by the World War veterans and to raise the funds for so doing by the issuance of $3,400,000,000 of new United States bonds, but the effect of this was felt chiefly in the bond market rather than in the money market, all Government bond issues declining sharply as a result, and the general bond market also receding in marked degree. As a matter of fact, about the only effect in the money market was to cause a marking up of ⅛% in the rates for bankers' acceptances on Thursday, Jan. 29, after these rates had previously during the month been lowered ⅛% four separate times.

As far as call loans are concerned, the slight flurry in rates which occurred at the close of December was not prolonged into January. Renewals, it is true, on Jan. 2 (the first business day of the new year) were at 3%, but almost immediately thereafter the rate for new loans dropped to 1½%, and this last remained the rate unaltered the remainder of the month on the Stock Exchange, both on new loans and for renewals, there being never any deviation from the 1½% figure on all the remaining days of the month. Outside the Stock Exchange even greater ease prevailed. There was a constant overflow of funds from the Stock Exchange to this outside market, and loans were all the time obtainable at a concession of a full ½%, or at the rate of only 1% a year. Time loans on the Stock Exchange also reflected a pronounced state of ease, and rates, already extremely low, were further marked down during the month, in many cases to the lowest figures ever recorded. As a matter of fact, however, there was little or no demand for time loans, for the double reason that borrowing on security collateral kept steadily diminishing, and that money could be obtained in other branches of the market on more advantageous terms. At the opening of the month quotations were 2@2¼% for 30-day money, 2¼@2½% per annum for 60 days, and also for 90 days; 2½@2¾% for four months, and 2¾@3% for five and six months. At the close of the month the quotations were 1⅜@1½% for 30-day money, 1½@1¾% for 60 days (after the rate at one time had been at the single figure of 1½%), 1¾@2% for 90-day accommodation (after the range had been 1½@2%), 2@2¼% for four months (after the single rate of 2% had at one time prevailed), and 2¼@2½% for five months and for six months. The trifling deviation to slightly higher levels for some of the maturities in the closing days of the month may have been due to the unsettled feeling regarding the future caused by discussion of the soldiers bonus proposition involving the issuance of $3,400,000,000 of new United States bonds. In the case of commercial paper the demand for prime paper in the open market continued brisk throughout the month, but satisfactory paper was in short supply, and this reduced the volume of transactions. Rates for choice names for four to six months' maturity dropped at the close of the month to 2½@2¾%, which the New York Federal Reserve Bank says is the lowest figure since 1894, while names less well known were 3@3¼%. With reference to the supply of paper, the New York Federal Reserve Bank, in its "Monthly Review," observed that "the amount of new paper that came into the market as the result of commercial and industrial concerns' needs for funds was reported to have been somewhat less than is usually expected at this time of the year, but there was some increase in the supply compared with December, when an unusually large amount of open market commercial borrowing was paid off. In that month the amount of paper outstanding through 21 dealers was reduced 20% to $357,000,000 on the 31st, and at that figure was only 7% larger than a year previous, following much larger year-to-year increases in preceding months of 1930."

There was no abatement in the demand for prime bank acceptances in the open market, but the supply of paper was at all times far below market requirements, this following in good part from the fact that many banks retained in their portfolios, for their own investment, bills which they had accepted for their customers. In this state of things rates for acceptances were reduced ⅛% four separate times during the month, first on Jan. 2, then on Jan. 13, then on Jan. 20, and finally on Jan. 23, in each case in both the bid and the asked columns and for all maturities, these being the lowest figures on record. This left the rates only 1½% bid and 1⅝% asked for bills running 30 days, 60 days, and 90 days; 1⅝% bid and 1½% asked for 120 days, and 1¾% bid and 1⅝% asked for 150 days and 180 days—rates which never before had even been closely approached. On Thursday, Jan. 29, however, owing to the unsettlement occasioned by the proposition to issue $3,400,000,000 of United States bonds to provide the means for taking up in cash the adjusted service certificates held by the World War veterans and not due until 1945, rates for acceptances were advanced ⅛% all around. In the early part of the month the New York Federal Reserve Bank held its buying rate for acceptances unchanged at 1¾% for bills of all maturities. On Friday, Jan. 23, the Reserve Bank marked down its buying rate from 1¾% to 1⅝%, this, however, applying only to acceptances running from 1 to 15 days, and on Monday, Jan. 26, further reduced to 1½% in the case of bills running from 1 to 45 days, and to 1⅝% in the case of bills running from 46 to 120 days. With the demand for acceptances so brisk, however, and with so many of the banks retaining in their own portfolios the bills which they had accepted, bills were tendered to the Federal Reserve Banks in greatly diminished volume, with the result of heavily reducing the acceptance holdings of the Reserve institutions. The 12 Reserve Banks reported, on Jan. 28, an aggregate of only $120,241,000 of acceptances, as against $363,844,000 on Dec. 31 1930. Their holdings of acceptances, however, for their foreign correspondents, after greater or smaller fluctuations from week to week, were somewhat larger at $442,435,000 Jan. 28 compared with $439,288,000 Dec. 31. In its monthly report, issued on Jan. 16, the American Acceptance Council reported the volume of bankers' acceptances outstanding on Dec. 31 1930 at $1,555,966,201. This was a reduction of $15,451,473 from the total shown on Nov. 29, and was $176,470,187 below the record total of $1,732,436,388 reached 12 months before, on Dec. 31 1929.

Following the reduction, on Dec. 24, of the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York from 2½% to 2%, and the subsequent reduction at Cleveland from 3½% to 3%, several of the other Reserve institutions also reduced their rates during the month of January. As a matter of fact, the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston announced on Dec. 31 that its rate would be lowered on Jan. 2 1931 from 3% to 2½%. On Jan. 7 the St. Louis Reserve Bank announced that its rate would be lowered on Jan. 8 from 3½% to 3%. On Jan. 8 the San Francisco Reserve Bank announced a similar reduction from 3½% to 3%, effective Jan. 9, and on Jan. 9 the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank and the Atlanta Reserve Bank also gave notice of a reduction from 3½% to 3%, effective Jan. 10. At the end of January the rate at New York was 2%, at Boston 2½%, at Cleveland, Atlanta, Chicago, St. Louis, and San Francisco 3%, and at Philadelphia, Richmond, Minneapolis, Kansas City, and Dallas 3½%.

THE RETURNS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE AND MEMBER BANKS—BROKERS' LOANS.

Brokers' loans continued their downward course during January, and without any interruption to the downward movement from week to week. In the week ending Jan. 7 the reduction was $47,000,000; in the week ending Jan. 14, $59,000,000; in the week ending Jan. 21, $63,000,000, and in the week ending Jan. 28, $23,000,000, making $192,000,000 for the four weeks combined, and reducing the total of these loans (according to the returns of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York) from $1,926,000,000 to $1,734,000,000. In fact, with the exception of a single week, the amount of these loans has been uninterruptedly shrinking for 18 successive weeks, during which period the total has fallen from $3,222,000,000, reported for both Sept. 17 and Sept. 24, to $1,734,000,000. In other words, there has been a reduction during this period of almost 1½ billion dollars, or, in exact figures, $1,488,000,000. The reduction has extended to loaning in all the different categories—that is, to loans made by the reporting member banks in New York City for their own account, to those for out-of-town banks, and to loans "for account of others." During the four weeks of January, however, as an exception to the rule, loans for the out-of-town banks increased from $235,000,000 Dec. 31 to $328,000,000 Jan. 28. In this same period of four weeks loans for own account fell from $1,321,000,000 to $1,089,000,000, and loans "for account of others" from $370,000,000 to $317,000,000.

The monthly Stock Exchange figures regarding broker borrowing show the same uninterrupted contraction—extending back, in fact, over the whole of the past nine months. During January there was a further decrease in Stock Exchange borrowing in amount of $173,267,572. This came after $268,636,112 decrease in December and $393,875,085 decrease in November, $925,328,674 decrease in October, $117,180,308 decrease in September, $90,849,228 decrease in August, $38,228,992 decrease in July, $1,020,120,623 decrease in June, and $315,299,447 decrease in May, making the total contraction for the nine months $3,342,786,041 and leaving the amount of borrowing Jan. 31 at only $1,720,345,318 against $5,063,131,359 April 30.

In the operations of the Reserve Banks themselves, as distinguished from those of the member banks, the feature during January was the reduction in the volume of Reserve credit outstanding, following the large increase in the same which occurred during November and December as a result of the disturbed banking condition in these earlier months growing out of the bank failures in this city and elsewhere throughout the country. These failures induced the banks greatly to increase their direct borrowing by obtaining rediscounts from the Reserve institutions while in addition the Reserve Banks put out large extra amounts of Reserve credit through their open market operations in the purchase of United States Government bonds and of bankers' acceptances. In January, on the other hand, with the need for special accommodation no longer operative, the volume of Reserve credit outstanding underwent substantial reduction and under all the various headings. The total of the discounts of the 12 Reserve institutions, representing member bank borrowing, which in the last week of December had been sharply reduced (falling from $448,349,000 Dec. 24 to $251,398,000 Dec. 31), increased again to $292,385,000 Jan. 7, but thereafter steadily decreased week by week, and Jan. 28 was only $215,137,000. At the same time, holdings of acceptances fell from $363,844,000 Dec. 31 to $120,241,000 Jan. 28. Holdings of United States Government securities were also reduced, and Jan. 28 stood at $609,877,000 as against $729,467,000 on Dec. 31. The result was that the aggregate volume of Reserve credit outstanding, as measured by the total of the bill and security holdings, on Jan. 28 was only $945,405,000 as against $1,351,852,000 Dec. 31. The volume of Federal Reserve notes in circulation was correspondingly reduced, the amount falling from $1,663,538,000 Dec. 31 and $1,721,897,000 Dec. 24 to $1,478,302,000 Jan. 28. Gold reserves during the same interval increased from $2,941,219,000 Dec. 31 to $3,091,714,000 Jan. 28.

COURSE OF STERLING EXCHANGE DURING JANUARY.

Sterling exchange was dull and irregular during January, with the fluctuations narrow, but with a tendency towards weakness most of the time. The features were the same as in the months immediately preceding, the chief of these being the continued heavy takings of gold in London for French account and the steady and large reductions in the gold holdings of the Bank of England. Chief concern was as to how to check the continued drain of gold to France and discussion was active, as in previous months, as to the best means for attaining that end. The Bank of France expressed great willingness to aid in the effort, but seemed able to accomplish little, though there were reports the latter part of the month that the French bank was buying sterling exchange in the endeavor to maintain the sterling level, and rumor had it that the New York Federal Reserve Bank was doing the same thing. The action of the Bank of France and the National Bank of Switzerland in both reducing their discount rate from 2½% to 2%, and the Bank of the Netherlands in reducing its rate from 3% to 2½%, ought to have acted to the advantage of the sterling rate, and there actually was some stiffening in sterling towards the close of the month. The most powerful influence, however, in this slight stiffening of rates, after sterling had got to a point where gold imports at New York from London became possible was the rise in open market discounts at London, the rates for which at the end of the month were 2⅝@2 7/16% in the case of short bills, and 2 7/16@2½% in the case of three months bills, as against 2¼% for both long and short bills at the beginning of the month. Whether this was the result of the action of the Bank of England in extending support to the market or followed as a result of the continued heavy withdrawals of gold from London was not altogether clear. The Bank of England reported a loss of £1,713,457 gold in the week ending Jan. 7, of another £1,407,902 in the week ending Jan. 14, still another loss of £2,288,246 in the week ending Jan. 21, and a still further loss amounting to £2,720,530 in the week ending Jan. 26, the result being that gold holdings Jan. 28 were down to only £140.141,236 as against £150,428,168 twelve months before, on Jan. 29 1930.

One development of the month was the action of the Bank of France in deciding on Jan. 13 to accept standard gold bars from England of 11/12 fineness. Previously the bank would not accept gold of less than .990 fineness. The first effect of this action was to lead to a recovery in the sterling exchange rate at Paris. The standard bars offered by the Bank of England are .91667 fine, while the Bank of France insisted on bars of a fineness of .990. Accordingly, banks shipping the metal from London were compelled to refine the gold before selling it to the Bank of France. It was not clear how this action would act to the benefit of sterling, and it was understood that the Bank of France would not accept standard gold until Feb. 1. The effect certainly is to reduce the high premium that had to be paid for francs in London, and according to some bankers the only influence on the gold situation is to lift the gold point (the figure at which gold takings are possible at a profit or without loss) along with the exchange rate. The old arrangement entailed extra expense in having the gold refined. In eliminating this item of expense the effect would appear to be to accelerate instead of retarding the outflow of the metal.

Home developments in Great Britain were not favorable to sterling, inasmuch as labor troubles developed in the coal mining districts of England and also in the cotton manufacturing districts, strikes prevailing in both. So far as these troubles reduce merchandise exports, the effect naturally would be to further increase the adverse trade balance against Great Britain, and French opinion seemed to be that Great Britain's heavy adverse trade balance was the real cause of the weakness of sterling. Cable transfers on London, as against 4.85⅝@4.85 11/16 on Jan. 2, were down to 4.85 5/16@4.85⅝ on Jan. 19, at which figures it was computed that gold could be imported to New York without loss or possibly at a slight profit, if any disposition existed at New York to engage in the movement. By Jan. 28, however, cable transfers had risen to 4.85¾, and the belief was that the further decline in market rates for bankers' acceptances at New York played some part in bringing about the improvement. After the date referred to the rates for cable transfers weakened again, the quotation Jan. 29 being down to 4.85 9/16, and the reaction was attributed partly to the advance in acceptance rates which then occurred in this market because of the unsettlement occasioned in financial circles by the agitation to pay the adjusted service certificates of the World War veterans in cash and to issue $3,400,000,000 of new United States bonds to cover the cost. Cable transfers closed on Jan. 31 at 4.85⅝@4.85 11/16. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York estimates that Paris took £10,500,000 gold from the Bank of England during the month, and in addition got the bulk of the South African gold offered in the market, amounting to £3,000,000. Withdrawals from the bank were offset in part by the reported arrival of £1,900,000 in coin from Brazil and £250,000 from South Africa.

Canadian exchange ruled at a discount all through the month of January, and large amounts of gold were received here the first half of the month, after which the movement ceased, the discount having fallen enough to make further imports of the metal no longer profitable. The gold movement to and from the United States during the month is summarized as follows by the New York Federal Reserve Bank:

"Receipts of gold from Canada amounted to $20,500,000 in the first half of January, and totaled $42,500,000 on the movement which began in December. A shipment of $5,450,000 was also received from Argentina, and $2,920,000 came here from Colombia, and $554,000 from Cuba. At San Francisco, $900,000 was imported from Japan and $675,000 from China. There was an additional gain to the country's gold stock through a decrease of $12,000,000 in gold held under earmark for foreign account. As exports were negligible, a preliminary estimate indicates a gain of about $43,500,000 of gold during January, the largest increase since April 1930. This country has continued to gain gold in all but two of the past 13 months, despite the prevalence of exceptionally low money rates here during much of the period."

THE CONTINENTAL AND OTHER FOREIGN EXCHANGES.

Rates of exchange on nearly all the Continental centers of Europe sharply declined during the month, though in two or three instances some recovery ensued in the closing days of the month. Quite a number of the European central banks reduced their discount rates during the month. The Bank of France lowered its rate on Jan. 2 from 2½%, the figure in effect since May 2 1930, to 2%. The National Bank of Switzerland on Jan 23 also reduced from 2½%, the rate in force since July 11 1930, to 2%, and the Bank of the Netherlands the same day reduced from 3% to 2½%, effective Jan. 24. This last was the first change by the latter bank since Mar. 25 1930. On Jan. 23. also, the National Bank of Bulgaria reduced its rate from 10% to 9%. French francs were firm with respect to sterling, and it was claimed that the sterling-franc rate would have been still lower except for the support extended to sterling by the Bank of France. Anglo-French gold conferences were in progress with the object of halting, if not reversing, the gold movement between London and Paris, but they appeared to have accomplished little, if anything. Anxiety was still being felt in Paris as to the position of some of the French provincial banks, and there was no indication that deposits which were withdrawn from the banks during the suspension of the Banque Oustric and the collapse of the Bank Adam were returning. Paris cablegrams stated that the Bank of France authorities did not disguise their feeling that if the domestic situation alone had been considered the reduction in the Bank of France rate from 2½% to 2% would not have been opportune. The bank concluded, however, it was stated, that its primary duty was to consider the international money situation. The bank allowed it plainly to be understood that it did not wish the rate reduction to be interpreted as an encouragement to speculation, and it deserves to be noted that, despite the low discount rate, the Bank of France rate on collateral loans was left unchanged at 4½%.

Reference is made above, in our review of the sterling exchange market, to the details of the movement of gold from London to Paris, and also to the action of the Bank of France in concluding again to accept bars of gold of a fineness of .91667 instead of insisting on .990 fineness. Paris cable dispatches stated that under the change the gold point for export from London would not depend on refining costs, but that the gold export point, instead of fluctuating as it had been doing since the Bank of England stopped releasing standard bars of .995 fine, would be established at the fixed rate of 123.89 francs to the pound sterling, below which figures Paris said sterling could not fall. Governor Moret, in his address to the shareholders of the Bank of France, on Jan. 29, in explaining the large influx of gold, declared that capital flowed into France owing to two causes: first the low money rates prevailing in world centers, which have led French banks to withdraw funds from abroad whenever they were faced with heavy demand for francs; secondly, the fact that foreign capital has been attracted by the stability and security of the French currency. The Governor promised his support to all efforts to develop international short and long-term lendings, especially the latter, which constitute, he said, a normal outlet for excess French capital. The Bank of France, in its return for the week ending Jan. 10, showed an increase in gold holdings of 372,428 311 francs; for the week ending Jan. 17, an increase of 293,322,776 francs; for the week ending Jan. 24, an increase of 641,131,984 francs, and for the week ending Jan. 31, an increase of 466,000,000 francs. Cable transfers on Paris, as against 3.92 11/16 Jan. 2, were down to 3.91¾ Jan. 19, and were 3.91 15/16 Jan. 31.

The German mark suffered a sharp decline during January. Cable transfers on Berlin dropped from 23.82 Jan. 2 to 23.74¼ Jan. 19, and closed Jan. 31 at 23.76½@23.77. One reason given for this was a heavy demand from Germany for German dollar issues, which is claimed to have been a feature of the New York bond market since early in December. It is estimated that a total of $100,000,000 was purchased here in New York for German account. Germany has been experiencing a drain, it appears, on her gold and exchange reserve despite the fact that the discount rate of the Reichsbank has been maintained at 5% as a consequence of a capital exodus and a concomitant shrinkage of capital imports, the two combined having placed an increasing strain upon mark exchange. The causes of the capital flight are only partly traceable, it is claimed, to domestic conditions resulting from bad business, heavy taxation and political anxiety created by the results of the autumn elections. French funds, upon which the German mark had come to depend, have not only been removed for such reasons, but also because of the crises produced in France and by a series of bank failures. Furthermore, there has been a general withdrawal or withholding of credits by the United States due to the banking and business disturbances here. The Bank of Germany gained 164,000 marks gold the first quarter of the month; lost 117,000 marks the second quarter of the month; gained 28,530,000 marks the third quarter, and lost 130,000 marks the fourth quarter. Italian exchange was without feature, and the fluctuations in it were confined to narrow limits. On Jan. 2 the lira for cable transfers was 5.23½@5.23 11/16, and on Jan. 31, 5.23½@5.23 9/16.

Exchange on the countries neutral during the war was in nearly all cases easier, with most of the units ruling lower than at any time for some weeks past. The softness in these exchanges was ascribed to seasonal pressure, to uncertainties with regard to international money markets, and to lack of demand for money and credit in most centers, and to retarded business recovery in all markets. The Dutch guilder was particularly weak, and this was ascribed to a flow of Dutch funds to London and New York, attracted by the low level of security prices in both markets. The Bank of the Netherlands, as noted further above, reduced its discount rate from 3% to 2½%, effective Jan. 24. The guilder on cable transfers dropped from 40.26¼ Jan. 2 to 40.18¾@40.19½ Jan. 31. Swiss francs also experienced a sharp decline. The National Bank of Switzerland on Jan. 23, as already noted, reduced its discount rate from 2½% to 2%, and obviously the lower money rates go the less inducement there is for capital, home or foreign, to remain in the market affected. On cable transfers the Swiss franc was 19.32¼@19.32½ Jan. 31 against 19.38¾@19.39 on Jan. 2. The Scandinavian exchanges also all moved lower, though with a sharp upward reaction the latter part of the month. Cable transfers on Denmark dropped from 26.74 Jan. 2 to 26.71¼ Jan. 19, and recovered to 26.73¼@26.74½ Jan. 31. The Norwegian crown on cable transfers declined from 26.74½ Jan. 2 to 26.71½ Jan. 19, and was 26.73½@26.74 Jan. 31. The Swedish crown on cable transfers, as against 26.78½ Jan. 2, sold down to 26.75¾ Jan. 9, but was 26.77@26.77½ Jan. 31. The Spanish peseta continued to fluctuate widely, but, on the whole, moved lower again. The range Jan. 31 for cable transfers was 10.21@10.26 against 10.48@10.50 Jan. 2, and in the interval it sold as high as 10.70 Jan. 9, and as low as 10.11 Jan. 15.

Rates on South American points developed renewed weakness in the case of both the Argentina peso and the Brazilian milreis. The former dropped from 31.75 Jan. 2 for cable transfers to 30.00 Jan. 13, and was 30.47@30⅝ Jan. 31. The Brazilian milreis on cable transfers declined from 9.70 Jan. 2 to 8.35 Jan. 28, and was 8.50@8.75 Jan. 31. This happened notwithstanding both countries arranged for further shipments of gold to New York and London. On Jan. 7 announcement was made that the Bank of the Argentine Nation was going to ship gold to New York in order to cover the country's debt service for the three months. It was understood that approximately $15,000,000 gold would be shipped. This was after reports had reached New York that the Banco Pelotense of Pelotas, the second largest bank in the State of Rio Grand do Sul, had closed its doors. The Argentine Finance Minister announced early in the month that Conversion office gold would be available for export to support the exchange against further violent flucuation. Foreign credits, it was stated, might be utilized for this purpose if gold exports become so heavy that "currency suffers inconvenient restriction." Argentina was known to be trying to negotiate foreign credits abroad. On Saturday, Jan. 24, announcement came that the Banco do Brazil had been granted a £6,550,000 banking credit in London by a syndicate headed by the Rothschilds. The credit was the first step toward reorganization of certain financial conditions in Brazil under advice of Sir Otto Niemeyer and is intended to supply the Banco do Brazil with foreign exchange to meet its external obligations. The credit is to be offered to banks in London, New York, Stockholm, and Geneva. The credit is guaranteed by the Brazilian Government. Brazilian Treasury bills, milreis and coffee, it is understood, have been deposited in London to form this guarantee. The milreis are deposited, it was stated, with a margin of 25% above current quotations for the exchange, to allow for possible depreciation, while the coffee portion of the guarantee was said to consist of 1,500,000 bags belonging to the central bank. The credit is to run 18 months, payable in monthly installments from the end of the seventh month. The Uruguayan peso also suffered a sharp break, selling down from 72.87 for checks Jan. 2 to 65.47 Jan. 14, with the range Jan. 31 66.35@66¾.

Exchange on the Far East suffered a further bad break, as the price of silver continued to record new low levels in all time, but rates improved somewhat as the price of silver steadied, and then moved downward again as the price of silver suffered a new slump. The Imperial Bank of India on Jan. 15 advanced its rate of discount from 6% to 7%, and the advance was ascribed to excessive weakness in rupees. The Hong Kong dollar on checks sold down from 26 11/16 Jan. 2 to 23⅜ Jan. 9, then recovered to 25 9/16 Jan. 13, broke anew to 23⅞ Jan. 19, and was 24@24 9/16 Jan. 31. The Shanghai tael went through similar gyrations, dropping from 34 7/16 Jan. 2 to 31⅛ Jan. 9, then recovered to 32¾ Jan. 13, then broke anew, touching 31 several times and was 31¼@31⅜ Jan. 31. The Japanese yen also moved lower, notwithstanding dispatches saying that Japan was again shipping gold to the United States, and notwithstanding the strenuous measures taken by the Japanese banking authorities to support exchange all through the past year. Yen checks were 49.38@49⅝ Jan. 31 against 49.50@49⅞ Jan. 2. The price of silver in London, after being quoted at 14½d. per ounce on Jan. 2, touched 13 3/16d. Jan. 9, establishing a new low level in world's history, and then recovered to 14¼ Jan. 14, tumbled once more to 13⅝d. Jan. 16, recovered to 14 15/16d. Jan. 23, and then tumbled again, and was back to 13⅝d. Jan. 31.

The tables on pages 16 to 38 furnish a complete record of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange during January and range for year 1930. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which nterest is in default. A few other bonds, like the Holland-American Line 6s, for special reasons, are also quoted "flat," ibut where this is the case the quotation "flat" will be found against the name of the issue. This method of quoting bonds became effective Jan. 2 1909.

For footnotes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.
